The First Nations Governance Act

In 1876, the first Indian Act was passed by a Liberal government in Parliament. Over the next 80 years the Indian Act was amended many times focussing more on intrusion, control and assimilation, and less and less on protection and the treaties.

In 1951, Parliament amended the Indian Act. This was the first time in history that First Nations were consulted; however, issues raised at the time were ignored in the unique legislation.

In 1969 Jean Chretien was the Minister of Indian and Northern Affairs and proposed the 1969 White Paper Policy which called for the elimination of legislative and constitutional recognition of Indian Nations, mass enfranchisement, the gradual elimination of reserve lands, and the termination of treaties.

In 1982, Canada amended the Constitution, which recognized and affirmed "existing aboriginal and treaty rights" in section 35 of the Constitution Act of 1982.

In 1985, Bill C-31 was passed to amend the Indian Act so that the registration and membership provisions would correspond with the Charter of Rights and Freedoms and International Law.

The impact of Bill C-31 was profound and the cost of implementing the Bill was much higher than the $300 million originally predicted by Indian Affairs. By 1989 the figure was revised upward to $2 billion, which did not include Medical Services Branch Expenditures for non-insured health services.

From 1987-1990, Indian Affairs conducted a Lands Revenue Trust Review in areas where Canada clearly held a legally enforceable Fiduciary Duty to First Nations. Canada wanted to expand First Nations Band Council power and to reduce Canada's control and Fiduciary Duty. There was no support from First Nations.

From 1990-1993, the Lands Revenue Trust Review was transformed into the Indian Act Alternatives. This process included a Chiefs Governance Working Group, which involved Indian Affairs and First Nations. The Working Group was to develop sectoral legislation in Lands Revenues Trust in Governance. The outcome was there was no concrete results or support from the Chiefs in Assembly.

In 1997 the Minister of Indian Affairs Ron Irwin introduced Bill C-79, The Indian Act Optional Modification Bill. Under this proposal, Councils could modify certain parts of the Indian Act to increase Band Council authority for local governance. The Irwin Bill was to supplement until Self-government Agreements were in place. This proposal died on the order paper due to the Federal Election. The Irwin Bill proposed to make 60 amendments to the Indian Act.

In 1998, the Indian Affairs and the AFN conducted a joint initiative on Land Trust Services Review.

In November 1999, the Supreme Court of Canada handed down its decision in the Corbiere Case. The effect was that the non-resident band members could vote in elections for Chief and Council.

In 2000, there was a change in National Chiefs and a corresponding resurgence of the LTR process.

In December 2000, media reports indicate that the Minister of Indian Affairs Robert Nault would be drafting a Modern Governance Act by the fall of 2001. The Legislation was to develop the tools and authority needed to support effective governments and accountability to the membership.

On January 30, 2001 the speech from the throne highlighted Canada's commitment to strengthen governance and accountability in First Nations Communities.

From January - March 2001 the AFN requested information and clarification about the Ministers public statements. The AFN wanted the Minister to involve First Nations from outset.

On March 27, 2001, the Minister of Indian Affairs received a mandate from Cabinet to proceed with drafting a First Nations Governance Package by the fall of 2001. The target for completion is 2 years.

On April 30, 2001, the Minister of Indian Affairs consulted with the AFN. The 1996 and 1999 Auditor General Reports were very critical of the internal administration of the Department of Indian Affairs and not the Chiefs and Councils.

It is anticipated that The Nault Bill may include the following changes to the Indian Act:

1. Changes to the legal status and capacity of First Nations. Bands will be officially recognized as a legal entity that can sue and be sued. The roles and responsibilities of Band Governments, and Chiefs and Councils will be legislated.
2. Changes to the Elections, Council Procedures and By-law powers. The review will look at the term of office for Chief and Council, ticketing, hearings, and enforcing fines and penalties.

ADMINISTRATION

3. Increased financial and administrative accountability, which will deal with financial planning, audit requirements, financial statements and public reporting, access to information and privacy, remuneration and expenses of officials, and conflict of interest rules.

From May-October 2001, Indian Affairs will be conducting grassroots consultations with Councils and individual members of the communities. The drafting of the Legislation will occur during the consultations. The timetable is as follows:

1. May-October 2001, Public Consultations,
2. Fall 2001-Spring 2002
 1. Legislation introduced to Commons (first reading)
 2. Passed to Parliamentary Review Committee (public consultation on Bill)
 3. Bill Amendments introduced (second reading)
 4. Third Reading, voted by Members of Parliament
 5. Passed to Senate of Canada (Bill format reviewed)
 6. If format accepted, Senate request Governor in Council to give Royal Assent.
3. May-November 2002, Public input into regulations (Consult with First Nations on the requirements for training, funding and resource people needed to follow new governance legislation.)

The Chiefs in Assembly are asking First Nations Members to boycott the consultation process. The reason for this decision is that lawyers have indicated that the Fiduciary Responsibility is being undermined. The Chiefs disagree with the consultation process and in particular the use of the Internet. Manitoba Vice-Chief Ken Young, a lawyer, informed AIAI this past week that the proposed legislation will make the reserve land an asset of a new legal entity. Mr. Young is concerned that the protection from seizure of Indian Lands may be compromised. The relationship between Canada and First Nations is to be a government to government relationship.

The Chiefs prefer a First Nations driven legislative reform process and support increased accountability. The Bill has yet to be drafted and it is impossible to comment on a Bill that is still in drafting stages.

A group gathered in Deseronto Saturday to witness the unveiling of a plaque in commemoration of the Mohawk Airport in Deseronto and its contribution to the Second World War. Tyendingaga Chief R. Donald Maracle and Grant MacDonald, (left) president of 413 Wing of the Air Force Association do the unveiling.

Airport's role in war effort remembered

By Andy Johnson
THE INTELLIGENCER

A plaque was unveiled at Mohawk Airport Deseronto as the site was honoured for its contribution during the Second World War.

A large group gathered Saturday to remember and commemorate the airport's historical past. Veterans, Air Force Cadets, politicians, clergy and many others were on hand to witness the unveiling of a plaque which honours the airport as a British Commonwealth Air Training Plan Site, of #1 Instrument Flying School, from April 2, 1943 to August 31, 1945.

Retired colonel, Cy Yarnell, said the 413 Wing of the Air Force Association of Canada took on this task to recognize that training was carried out at this site and others like it.

Three veterans who were trained and served at Camp Mohawk were honoured at the ceremonies; Ron Churchill, Alban Cutts and Donald Holmes.

Holmes, who arrived at Camp Mohawk when he was 19 and served there from April 1943 to October 1945, said the airport has changed considerably from what he remembers. He said he enjoyed his time at the camp and he thought the commemoration was a worthy cause.

"It's very nice. Certainly it's a worthy cause. Small places like this get forgotten," said Holmes. "It was a great experience for a young fellow."

The Mohawk Airport has gone through a number of changes over the years. It has been used as a reserve training area and as a repair depot, it was turned over to the Indian affairs branch of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration and many of the buildings were sold for removal. The site was also used by the Prince Edward Flying Club before being abandoned. Since 1990 the site has been used for flight training by the Tyendingaga Mohawks. It is now known as First Nations Air Service and First Nations Technical Institute Aviation Program.

A trumpeter played and silence was held in memory of those who died. A group of propeller planes, led by Chief Flying Instructor Andy Maracle flew overhead in commemoration of the ceremony.

Ernie Parsons, MPP Prince Edward-Hastings, was very positive about the plaque and the Mohawk flight school.

"What a wonderful living tribute to the people who were trained and served and went before us."

All British Commonwealth Air Training Plan sites in Canada are being recognized. These schools are considered to be one of Canada's greatest contributions to the war effort. At one point there were a total of 360 schools in Canada on 271 sites. The number of graduates was 131,553. This included pilots, navigators, air bombers, wireless operators, air gunners and flight engineers.

The plan was a team operation started in 1939 and executed in Canada by Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Canada. Men were trained and supplied to the Royal Air Force, the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Royal Australian Air Force, the Royal New Zealand Air Force and the Royal Norwegian Air Force.

Dear Chief Maracle:

I am pleased to invite your Council to participate in the Foundation's Heritage Community Recognition Program 2001.

Now in its sixth year, this program provides you with the opportunity to recognize individuals who have made significant contributions to local heritage preservation.

For example, Dorothy Commanda of the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan in Golden Lake, was recognized for helping to keep traditions alive by teaching the Algonkian language and instructing young people in how to tan hides, make clothing and tie knots. Lloyd King was honoured for his work in documenting the history of education for the Mississaugas of New Credit First Nation.

Councils may submit up to three nominations – one in each of the heritage areas – built, cultural and natural. Also, nominations may involve more than one individual where there has been a shared accomplishment.

The Foundation will provide personalized Certificates of Achievement and Heritage Community Recognition Pins for presentation in the community.

Enclosed are the program guidelines and nomination forms. The deadline for nominations this year is June 29, 2001.

I encourage your Council to participate in this program to recognize the significant work being done to preserve the special heritage traditions and resources in your community.

Yours truly,

Allan

PRESS RELEASES

RELEASE

May 24, 2001

The Supreme Court of Canada's decision today in Minister of National Revenue v. Grand Chief Kanentakeron Mitchell is a disappointment for the Mohawks of Akwesasne.

The Mohawks of Akwesasne brought a carefully planned, specific and moderate question to the Federal Court. We defined our right as the right to bring goods into Canada from the United States for (1) personal use, (2) community use, and (3) non-commercial scale trade with other First Nations. We deliberately described it as a practical, modern right that would not include alcohol or firearms, and recognized the need to identify the goods at the border. After a 36 day trial, Justice McKeown agreed that we had established these Aboriginal rights. Since the federal government had said that it would negotiate if we won in court, we invited Canada to begin negotiations. Instead, Canada took the case to the Federal Court of Appeal. That court held a four-day hearing. Its decision limited the Aboriginal right to goods coming in from New York State and our right to trade to First Nations in Quebec and Ontario. Apart from this, the Court of Appeal affirmed Justice McKeown's trial judgment, calling it a "carefully articulated decision".

We accepted the limitations added by the Court of Appeal, and again invited Canada to negotiate. Canada chose to appeal again instead.

In its decision, the Supreme Court of Canada re-characterized the Aboriginal rights claimed in the case. Rather than examine the question of bringing across goods for personal and community use, the Supreme Court concentrated only on the trading component of our Aboriginal rights. There is nothing in the majority of the Court's reasons rejecting the views expressed by the trial judge and court of appeal on goods for personal use and community consumption at Akwesasne.

While the Supreme Court agreed with the trial judge that "trade is a central and defining feature of the Mohawk nation before contact" with Europeans, it held that we also needed to establish that trade to the north was a central and defining feature of Mohawk society at that time. Though the trial court and Court of Appeal decided that there was sufficient evidence to prove the importance of north-south trade, the Supreme Court has disagreed with those courts, and with us, on this issue.

In Canadian law, a trial judge usually has exclusive authority over the interpretation and assessment of evidence. In this case, the Supreme Court took the highly unusually step of reviewing the evidence in detail and overriding the trial court and court of appeal's evaluation of the evidence. We fundamentally believe that the trial judge, who heard our evidence over weeks of trial was correct in recognizing our Aboriginal right including our trading rights across what is now the international border.

Two of the judges made further findings about the nature of Mohawk sovereignty. That issue was not argued in the case, and the Mohawk Council of Akwesasne would not have argued it without the concurrence of our traditional government, the Mohawk Nation Council. We consider the judgment of the majority of the Supreme Court to be the decision we have to work with, and that decision highlights the need for Canada and Akwesasne to meet and negotiate practical approaches to border issues, on the basis of mutual respect. We Mohawks have learned to take a long term view and we will continue to fight for our rights.

The Mohawk people, through the past three and a half centuries, have survived between colonizing nations. First, the English and the French; then between the British and the United States; then between Canada and the United States. We are determined that our nation and our rights will continue to survive. The Supreme Court's decision has not, in our view, resolved the border crossing rights issues. We prefer the Court's conclusion three years ago in Dalyamaukw: these issues are best left to negotiation.

Court orders native band to pay duty

BY KIRK MAHIN
JUSTICE REPORTER

A Mohawk band located on the St. Lawrence River does not enjoy an aboriginal right to bring goods into Canada duty-free, the Supreme Court of Canada said yesterday.

A 5-2 majority ruled that even a generous interpretation of history fails to support a claim by the Akwesasne Mohawks that they traditionally conducted north-south trade across the St. Lawrence River.

"This trade was not vital to the Mohawks' collective identity," the majority said. "It follows that no aboriginal right to bring goods across the border for the purposes of trade has been established."

The ruling contained a stinging rebuke of two lower courts. It said that based on a virtual absence of cogent evidence, the Federal Court of Canada and Federal Court of Appeal fell into the "clear and palpable" error of deciding that north-south trade was a defining feature of Akwesasne Mohawks, whose reserve is southwest of Montreal and straddles the Canada-U.S. border.

Chief Justice Beverley McLachlin issued a stern warning to the judiciary that the evidence underlying native rights rulings must not be meagre or overly speculative.

"Evidentiary principles must be sensitively applied to aboriginal claims, but they cannot be strained beyond reason," Chief Justice McLachlin said.

She carefully restricted the majority ruling to the facts of the Akwesasne case, apparently hoping to avoid any repetition of the uproar created two years ago by a much-criticized ruling in the Donald Marshall eel-fishing case that said natives have a right to fish, hunt and gather enough to earn a "moderate living."

The figure at the centre of yesterday's case, Akwesasne's Grand Chief Michael Mitchell, crossed into Canada on March 22, 1998 without paying $142.88 in duty on a collection of blankets, Bibles, motor oil, food, clothing and washing machine. Most of the articles were intended as gifts for neighbouring Mohawk band; the oil was destined for resale.

In keeping with past Supreme Court rulings, an aboriginal right can be successfully asserted only if the practice in question can be traced to a period before contact with Europeans. It must also be established that it was a practice, custom or tradition integral to the distinctive culture of the group.

Federal lawyers in the Mitchell case acknowledged that the Mohawks traditionally engaged in trade. However, they claimed that trade was east-west, rather than north-south.

Writing in dissent, Mr. Justice Binnie and Mr. Justice Jack Major said that even if north-south trade was not a defining feature of the Akwesasne Mohawk culture, the issue goes much deeper.

"The claim is not just about physical movement of people or goods in and about Akwesasne, Judge Binnie said. "It is about the Mohawks' aspiration to live as if the international boundary did not exist."

Dear Ms. Loft,

It is with great pleasure that I congratulate you on receiving a grant under the National Strategy on Community Safety and Crime Prevention to support the Community Recreation and Youth Crime Prevention Program.

The development of the Recreation Program is all about partnership: between the Government of Canada, the Government of Ontario and the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte - all working together to make this community a safer place for everyone, especially for area youth.

The Youth Recreation Committee is undertaking an initiative that will benefit the community, positively affecting all those who live there. What you are doing is about tackling issues before they become problems - giving the children in the community a safe place to go where they can participate in sports and cultural programs, or just sit and talk with peers and role models about the problems they are facing everyday.

The federal government seeks to support Canadians who want to make their communities safer. Preventing crime is a big job and I am pleased that the National Strategy on Community Safety and Crime Prevention is there to help you implement your ideas and plans. Once again, please accept my congratulations.

Yours sincerely,

The Hon. Lyle Vanclief, P.C., M.P.

A MESSAGE FROM A MEMBER OF THE MOHAWKS OF THE BAY OF QUINTE BAND COUNCIL (MBQBC) FOR MAY 2001

Submitted by William J. Brant

I have been asked to explain the purpose of the Indian Agricultural Program of Ontario (IAPO) and have included in the newsletter an information brochure for your perusal. This program has a monthly newsletter and anyone wishing to receive a copy may ask to be included in the mailing list. To do this, contact the IAPO office whose numbers and addresses are included in the enclosed brochure.

- ISSUES that MBQBC have been working on -not in any order of priority
- (A) Budgets - with limited amounts of funds there is a need to prioritize the best use of these funds
 - (B) Fishing By-law - this is still a matter for discussion with the members of the Territory although there should be a draft ready for discussion in the near future
 - (C) Dog By-law - there is a draft copy to be included in this month's newsletter
 - (D) POLICIES:
 - (i) recently an employment manual has been completed for the staff of the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte (MBQ)
 - (ii) economic development (cigarette quota, business loan programs)
 - (iii) MBQBC is presently working with the firm of BDO Dunwoody and Associates to establish a governance policy (order of management and rules to guide the MBQ administration and MBQBC)
 - (E) ISSUES TO RESOLVE:
 - (i) investigating the pros and cons of stand alone policing (whereby the police become employees of MBQ) versus the present (funds are issued by the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP))
 - (ii) investigating terms of reference for a police services board (consisting of members from the Territory) which would be a governing body to deal with policing issues
 - (iii) complaints concerning the time of MBQ police response to requests for service (a problem seems to present in the way that the messages are dispatched from the OPP to our officers. We are working to address this issue)
 - (iv) cattle drinking directly from the bay and creeks (MBQBC has been concerned with the possible contamination as a result of this practice and are working with farmers on the Territory with advice from IAPO and ministry of Ontario Agriculture and Food and Rural Affairs (OMAFRA) engineer in an effort to minimize the risk of contamination
 - (v) maintenance and other issues at the Elders Lodge (I have been visiting the Elders Lodge on a monthly basis to hear their concerns and to see that these concerns are addressed)
 - (vi) MBQBC is updating our garbage by-law to address waste management (complaints have been received re: community garbage that has been left out and has not been properly disposed or recycled. The present by-law will be enforced)
 - (vii) home owners water issues (these are being investigated as they arise and MBQBC is working with residents to resolve the difficulties by testing water and by recommending solutions to address the problem)

NOTE: for more information on any of the above issues please contact Todd Kring, Acting Chief Administration Officer (A/CAO).

As well as the above issues I have been working with individual community members.

I welcome your comments and suggestions on these, or any other issues. You may call anytime and leave a message or meet in person at my office at 1298 UPPER SLASH ROAD on Tuesdays. DIRECT LOAN AND LOAN GUARANTEE PROGRAM

The special legal aspects with respect to land and assets on reserves under the Indian Act presents problems for the farm business person to access regular lending programs.

89. (1) Subject to this Act, the real and personal property of an Indian or a band situated on a reserve is not subject to charge, pledge, mortgage, attachment, levy, seizure, distress or execution in favour or at the instance of any person other than an Indian or a band.

a) DIRECT TERM LOANS

These are available for a variety of approved farming purposes. IAPO staff will work with farm clients to develop a viable farm plan and loan application. Length of repayment time and terms are determined individually for each loan.

b) LOAN GUARANTEE

Loan Guarantees are generally available for operating loans. A commercial lender provides the loan to the Status Indian farmer, and the IAPO Guarantee is the security for the loan.

SPECIAL LOAN PROGRAMS

1. Tile Drainage Loans
 - Similar to Tile Drainage Loans available to off-reserve farmers for installing tile and drains on agricultural land.
 - 75% of loan to maximum of $20,000 per year under Tile Drainage Loan at 8%.
 - Balance of loan, up to 25%, may be available from IAPO under similar terms as Tile Drainage Loan.
 - Landowner is applicant - tenant or renter may arrange with landowner that annual rental payments go towards loan payment.
2. Aboriginal Youth Business Fund
 - A joint program with IAPO and Aboriginal Business Canada.
 - Applications made through IAPO
 - Farm loans for those 29 years of age and under for eligible purposes.

 - Applications made through IAPO
 - Micro loans and mentoring services for First Nations and Inuit Youth, ages 15-30.
 - Seed capital financing at 8%, with counselling, business plan development and aftercare assistance.

EDUCATION

TRUSTEE'S REPORT
May 2001

Graduation time is fast approaching. For some members of the Tyendinaga community it has already arrived. On May 23 I shared in celebrating the first graduation of Ohahase Adult Education Program of FNTI. Ten adult students were honoured for completion of their Grade 12 diplomas. Women graduates expressed appreciation to staff Jan Hill and Cheryle Maracle for support and encouragement that helped them through. They also spoke of the satisfaction they gained from learning along with their children doing homework at the kitchen table.

Marg Elliott, coordinator of adult education for Hastings and Prince Edward District School Board, has provided guidance and backup to Ohahase staff and was on hand to join the applause. (Marg was recently honoured as HPEDSB Educator of the Year.) Dave MacKay, Principal of Moira Secondary School added his congratulations.

This graduation was a milestone marking the results of cooperation between HPEDSB, Tyendinaga Mohawk Administration and Kagita Mikam who started the project two years ago, and FNTI. Course materials are provided through the Ministry of Education and grading of assignments is done by teachers qualified in the subject being studied. Ohahase provides personalized planning and tutoring services. Students add determination to complete the winning combination.

A high school diploma is a requirement now for most careers. To open up career options for members of the Tyendinaga community Ohahase is adding a new program this fall: Haudenosaunee Opportunity for Personalized Education (H.O.P.E.) Students from 16 to 21 years of age who have dropped out of school, or who would benefit from a structured alternative setting, will be eligible for HOPE. The program will be offered through a partnership of HPEDSB, Moira Secondary School and Ohahase. Transportation will be available, as well as childcare if required. For more information call Jan or Cheryle at FNTI.

In the regular high school system, students who are keen on sports, drama, musicals or assorted other activities will be happy that the confrontation between the provincial government and Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation over extracurricular activities seems to be on the verge of resolution. The Ontario government will now recognize that supervising extracurricular activities is part of a teacher's educational role and such effort can now be counted (to a limited extent) as part of a teacher's workload. No extra funding will go to school boards directly for these services, but class sizes will be increased slightly to free up teacher time within current budgets.

On a final note, Moira Secondary School will have a new principal and vice-principal as of September. Dave MacKay, who came to Moira just a year ago, is retiring. Dave has taken an active interest in Tyendinaga students at Moira and in the needs and priorities of the Tyendinaga community. We wish him well. Mike Brant, Bill Maracle and I will make sure that the new administrators at Moira have the information they need to maintain a good working relationship with our community.

Diane Fair will become principal. She held various teaching and administrative positions with HPEDSB from 1969 to 1996. For the past five years Ms. Fair has been principal of Campbellford District High School and she comes to Moira with glowing recommendations from her present school and those who have worked with her in the past. Joan Bennet will become vice-principal, moving up from her current position as Special Education Head at Moira. Maybe we could invite both of them for a "get acquainted night" with parents and other important people at Quinte Mohawk School.

POLICE PAGE UNSOLVED CRIMES!

On May 8, 2001, a residence located on Old Highway 2 East of Shannonville was broken into. The Break-in was discovered at approximately 3:45 in the afternoon and occurred sometime that day. The front door to the residence had been kicked in. The value of the property stolen is in excess of $3000, and includes:

- 1) 25 inch Hitachi colour television,
- 2) 19 Inch Hitachi colour television,
- 3) 19 inch colour TV/VCR combination,
- 4) 2 portable CD players,
- 5) Nintendo Game Boy and several games,
- 6) Nintendo 64 game console,
- 7) 2 folding camp chairs and
- 8) a Phantom vacuum cleaner.

Sometime between the 9th and the 11th of May 2001, unknown person(s) broke into a cottage on Gordon road. To gain entry, a kitchen window was smashed and removed, with the culprit(s) also trying to pry the door, causing damage. A shed on the property was also broken into, with the lock being pried off. Although very little was taken, there was still a cost incurred by the victim to have the window and door repaired. The value of the damage is estimated at approximately $175.

On May 15, 2001 a resident of Huron Brant Drive, South returned home at approximately 5:45 in the afternoon to find that someone had broken into her house during the afternoon. Entry was made through an eastside bedroom window and the culprit also exited this way. While nothing is known to be missing, the matter is still under investigation.

On May 21, 2001, a 14 foot aluminum boat, red, was found along the shore of the Bay, on Gordon's Point. The boat had been pulled up on shore and turned over on the finder's property. The boat was found to be in poor condition. If you, or someone you know, is missing a similar boat, contact the Tyendingaga Police.

If you have any information about the above incidents, you are asked to contact the Tyendingaga Police at 967-3888, or call Crimestoppers at 1-800-222-8477.

Remember, Crimestoppers pays for your information. Call display is not used and you are not identified.

Reminder to Dog Owners from Tyendingaga Police

Dogs Running at Large:

Once again in May, as in April, the Tyendingaga Police have received numerous complaints of dogs running free and acting aggressively. If you own a dog, or several dogs, you are reminded that you are responsible for your pet's behavior. If your dog is allowed out of the house, it is your responsibility to ensure that it is always tied up, in a pen or on a leash.

If the animal leaves your property, you can be held liable for any damage or injury caused by your dog. If your dog bites a person, you could risk losing your dog to destruction. Remember, all dogs can, and will, bite anyone given the right circumstances. It is not enough to tell people "It's okay he/she doesn't bite."

If your dog harasses any livestock or poultry, the farmer affected has a right to destroy that dog, if caught in the act. Please look after your pets, and be a responsible pet owner and community member.

RED CEDARS

Michael+ was what most people would consider a "good catch" - smart, good-looking, popular, athletic, and from a wealthy family. He played on both the basketball and intramural baseball teams in high school, downhill skied in the winter, had a lot of friends, and could have dated anyone he wanted to - which made it all the more shocking when, during his senior year of high school, he was accused of raping the seventeen-year-old sister of one of his teammates on the football team. Many people assumed the rape accusation was because of a "bad breakup," or that the girl was simply a "woman scorned" and trying to get back at Michael - until another girl came forward, telling a similar story of a night when Michael had "kindly" offered her a ride home from a party, and then raped her in the back seat of his car.

+(not his real name)

What is Date Rape?

"Date rape," or "acquaintance rape," is exactly what it sounds like - a sexual assault committed by a person who is already known by the victim. Most people already know that the large majority of sexual assaults committed go unreported, but what most do not realize is that many victims actually know their attackers. It is because the rapist is a "friend," an acquaintance, a spouse, a classmate, a co-worker, or someone else who is known to the victim that many of these cases are never reported to anyone, and the victim never receives any help for her attack.

The myth about rapists is that anyone can pick one out of a crowd, because of the way they look, or act. The reality is that a rapist is anyone who commits an unwanted sexual act on another person - even if the two people involved have previously had some kind of sexual contact. "No" always means no, not "maybe," not "later," and even if the answer was "yes" in the past, that does not give anyone unlimited permission over anyone else's body in the future.

Date rape can be particularly devastating to the victim because it involves someone known to her, someone she may have trusted or even loved in the past. In many cases, the rapist doesn't understand why she doesn't love or trust him anymore; he may use a lot of excuses to explain his behavior.

"She really wanted it."

"She owed me."

"She didn't really mean 'no,' she was playing hard to get."

"She knows I love her."

"I didn't really hurt her."

The sad fact is, a lot of victims believe they "asked for" or "deserved" to be raped - that they themselves did something, said something, "came on too strong," or otherwise provoked the rapist into the attack. This leads to even more shame in the victim than she already feels from the rape, and shame often leads to silence. As in the case of Michael and his victims, the first woman didn't feel strong enough to come forward with her story until the second had already been told - and, in reality, we may never know if she really was the first victim; there may have been others who never came forward to tell what Michael did to them.

Sexual assault is not about sex. It's about power, control, and anger - the desire of one person to have power and control over another. Assault is a violent, angry crime.

Protect Your Daughters:

How can we protect the young women in our community? There are several things that we can teach women to help keep them safe:

- young women need to be taught to be strong and assertive about their own wants and needs, and to speak up about them
- they need to know that they deserve respect from everyone in their lives, but especially from the people who claim to "love" them
- they need to understand that jealousy, anger, coercion, and reckless behavior are not a part of a loving and respectful relationship
- they need to learn to trust their own gut feelings in a situation, and always to be concerned about their own personal safety
- they need to know how dangerous it can be to let themselves get out of control by using drugs or alcohol
- they need to know how to recognize a healthy relationship, where both partners feel they have an equal say

What To Do If You Have Been Raped, Or Know Someone Who Has Been Raped:

- tell someone. Know you aren't alone, and that the assault was not your fault, you didn't deserve it, and you didn't "ask for it."
- get help. Medical attention is critical in the hours immediately following a rape. You may have been injured without realizing it.
- if someone tells you they've been assaulted, believe them - even if you know the rapist and you don't think that he is capable of such a thing. It may have been very difficult for the victim to disclose what has happened, and she needs support more than anything else.

Crib safety

Cribs made before September 1986 are dangerous. They do not meet current standards. It is illegal to sell, import or advertise these cribs.

Cribs that were made before September 1986 or without a label are not safe for use.

Safety Tips

The crib:

- Look for a label on the crib that shows when the crib was made.
- Check the crib often to make sure the frame is solid. Tighten loose screws regularly.
- Check the crib to make sure the sides lock into place.

The mattress:

- Make sure the mattress is tight against all four sides of the crib.
- Replace the mattress if it is not firm or if it is worn-out.
- Move the mattress down to its lowest level as soon as the baby can sit up.

Baby safety:

- Lock the sides into place after putting the baby in the crib.
- Never tie the baby in the crib and do not let the baby wear a necklace or a soother on a cord around the neck.
- Place the crib away from windows, curtains, blind cords, lamps, electrical plugs and extension cords.
- Bumper pads should never be used.
- Babies should always be supervised with toys and bottles.

THE BREASTFEEDING CIRCLE

How will I cope with breastfeeding and returning to work?

A Working Day's Plan could be:

- .Set alarm early for a leisurely feeding before your busy day begins.
- .Wearing two piece outfits or those suitable for nursing the baby is helpful if you need to pump too. Nursing pads and patterned clothing can help conceal occasional leaking. Some women keep an extra top or jacket at work...also good ideas if baby is going to work with you.
- .Nurse again before leaving home or when dropping the baby off at the caregiver's.
- .When picking up baby or returning home at the end of the day, take time for another nursing before doing anything else. Many women feel that this is relaxing and helps them make the transition from employee to mother.
- .Breastfeeding frequently while mother & baby are together is the best way to maintain an adequate milk supply...
- .Allow for frequent unrushed nursings at night.
- .Some mothers report that their milk supply is lower by the end of the week...nursing more often over the weekend helps to increase & assure plenty of milk for the week ahead.

Care Giver Tips:

- .Allow the mother & baby some quiet time together before the baby is left.
- .Some breastfed babies will refuse a "different" kind of feeding from their mother, but will accept it from someone else.
- .Respect the mother's wishes re: the use/avoidance of bottles, pacifiers, or supplements.
- .Alternatives to bottles that can be tried are cup feeding, spoon feeding, medicine syringes or droppers.
- .Some older breastfed babies prefer to wait for mom and will not feed until she returns. They usually do fine. Keep offering, but don't worry.
- .If formula is brought to supplement a mother's milk, it should be given early in the day. Formula takes longer to digest than human milk, so if it is given too close to when mom is due back, baby may not want to nurse.
- .Try not to feed the baby within an hour of mom's return, so he/she will want to nurse.
- .Stored breastmilk separates. Shake warmed milk gently to re-mix.
- .Do not microwave breastmilk.
- .Normal loose bowel movements may increase with amount of breastmilk consumed. Do not mistake this for diarrhea.

The immune factors in breastmilk protect babies from infections and other illnesses. This is especially important to babies being cared for in day care.
Breastfeeding helps to overcome the anxieties of leaving the baby in someone else's care by giving the mother a special tie to her baby that is hers' alone.

FOOD SAFETY TIPS FOR BARBECUING

Make sure it's thawed right!

Thaw foods in the refrigerator. Thawing in cold running water or in a microwave oven is acceptable. Thawing at room temperature is unsafe because surface bacteria begin to multiply as soon as the surface warms.

Cook foods right!

Prepare foods quickly, cook them thoroughly and serve them immediately. Don't let potentially unsafe foods linger at temperatures where bacteria can grow. The "danger zone" is between 4C (40F) and 60C (140F).

Don't spread it around!

Keep certain foods, like meats and their juices, separated from others during storage and preparation. Rinse and sanitize dish clothes often and use separate dish towels for each part of the kitchen (one for each counter) so as not to spread bacteria. Keep a separate cutting board for meat. Keep foods covered. Flies, other insects or accidental splashing during preparation of other foods can introduce bacteria.

FOOD SAFETY TIPS FOR BARBECUING

You have a role in safety!

Bacteria multiply on food that is mishandled and some of these bacteria may cause disease. By making sure the food you buy and prepare remains safe, you can play an important role in reducing the risks of foodborne illness.

Buyer be aware!

Examine food and its packaging at the store - if it leaks, have it repackaged - and again at home. Avoid swollen or leaking cans, or damaged packages - they may expose the contents to bacteria. Select perishable foods last and put them away first - surface bacteria begin to multiply as soon as food surfaces warm.

Store it right!

Keep the refrigerator at 4°C (40°F) or less. Keep the freezer at -18°C (0°F) or less.

Keep it clean!

Always clean your hands, utensils and cooking surfaces thoroughly. Wash your hands with soap and hot water before you handle food, repeatedly while you prepare it and again when you've finished. Clean (soap and hot water) and sanitize (bleach and water) cutting boards and utensils after use. Clean (soap and hot water) and sanitize (bleach and water) countertops, cutting boards, and utensils with a bleach solution (5ml / 1 tsp. bleach per 750ml / 3 cups water). This will kill surface bacteria.

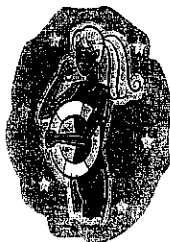

When in doubt throw it out!

Examine food carefully immediately before you use. Look for damaged packaging, obvious mould growth, discoloration and unusual odours, feel and texture.

Summer Fun Safety

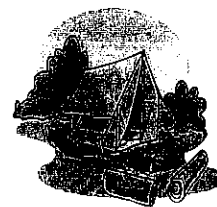

Tips for swimming safely with children

- ✦ Give your children your full attention. Always wear a PFD (personal flotation Device).
- ✦ Swim at supervised waterfronts and beaches.
- ✦ Choose a safe place to swim. Check for hazards on the beach and in water—including water pollution levels.
- ✦ Children under 3 or who cannot swim must wear a life jacket or PFD.
- ✦ Keep Life saving equipment and first aid kit handy by the nearest pool.
- ✦ Have a list of emergency phone numbers at the phone nearest the pool.
- ✦ Keep toys, garden furniture and tools away from the pool fence. Kids can climb them to get into the pool.

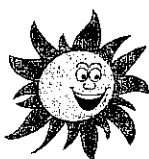

Some camping safety tips

- ✦ Plan ahead before a camping trip. Be prepared to treat injuries and allergies.
- ✦ Have a first-aid kit which includes treatments for food and insect allergies.
- ✦ Ensure each child is at a safe distance from the fire.
- ✦ Always go with a buddy when leaving the camp site.
- ✦ Food attracts wild animals and insects. If possible, store it in a cooler in your car, not in your tent.
- ✦ Always tell parents or guardian if leaving the camp site, never go off on your own.

Sun safety and skin cancer

- ✦ Use a sunscreen lotion which has a Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of a least 15. Make sure it has both UVA and UVB protection. Re-apply it every two hours, as well as after swimming.
- ✦ Don't allow infants or young children play or sleep in the sun in a playpen, carriage, stroller, etc.
- ✦ Don't let young children stay in the sun for long periods, even when wearing sunscreen.
- ✦ Protect your eyes as well as your skin from the ultraviolet damage.
- ✦ A hat must be worn while playing outdoors.
- ✦ Do not leave children unattended in vehicle.

Ten steps to get Active

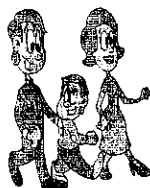

YOU can do it - Getting started is easier than you think!

Physical activity doesn't have to be very hard, Build physical activity into your daily life - at home, at school, at work, at play, and your on the way!

Add-up your activities during the day in periods of at least 10 minutes each.

1. Walk whenever you can - When you park at the shopping mall, park your car a distance from the entrance way especially on nice days.
2. Reduce in-activity for long periods, like watching TV.
3. Get up from the couch and stretch and bend for few minutes every 1/2 hour.
4. Play actively with your kids.
5. Choose to walk, wheel or cycle for short trips.
6. Start with a 10 minute walk - gradually increase the time.
7. Find out about walking and cycling paths nearby and USE them with a buddy if preferred.
8. Observe a physical activity class to see if you want to try it.
9. Try one class to start - you don't have to make a long-term.
10. Now, Do the activities you are doing now, more often.

This year's tournament was held in London, May 12, 2001, hosted by Oneida First Nation. Twenty-three teams competed for prizes; unfortunately, one First Nation was missing one team. The day was great and the meal was incredible. The evening concluded with entertainment by a live blues band.

Tyendinaga did really well this year, winning the "Overall" pinfall trophy (first time ever!!!), the "A" division total pinfall and our Mixed A team (Murray Topper Maracle, Murray Maracle (Jr), Mindy Maracle, Lacey Maracle, Debbie Maracle and Keitha Barberstock) won their division with a total pinfall of 2859.

There were also several individual trophies awarded to Tyendinaga team members:

North American
Indigenous Games
Winnipeg 2002

Welcome to the official site of the 2002 North American Indigenous Games - Winnipeg, M.

About the Games

The 2002 North American Indigenous Games (2002NAIG)
July 25th - August 4th, 2002
Winnipeg, Manitoba

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada is proud and honoured to host the 2002 North American Indigenous Games, July 25th - August 4th, 2002. With a legacy of Pan Am Games experience behind us, the 2002 Games is expected to be the most prestigious and unique Aboriginal multi-sport and cultural gathering in Canadian History.

Winnipeg, located in the heart of Turtle Island (North America), will be welcoming approximately 7,000 First Nation, Metis, Inuit and Native American athletes, coaches and officials, along with 3,000 cultural performers and 4,500 volunteers. Winnipeg is very proud to have been chosen to host the fifth North American Indigenous Games (NAIG), following in the footsteps of previous Games held in Victoria, B.C. (1997), Blaine, Minnesota (1995), Prince Albert, Saskatchewan (1993), and Edmonton, Alberta (1990).

A Host Society of Aboriginal and Non-Aboriginal people, including our two Co-Chairs, the Honourable Mr. Justice Murray Sinclair and the Honourable Yvon Dumont, former Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, will be spearheading the Games. Most of our Board Members and staff have previous Games experience (a legacy from hosting the very successful 1999 Pan Am Games), and will now be working side-by-side with Aboriginal and Non-Aboriginal volunteers to showcase the 2002 North American Indigenous Games.

The 2002 NAIG Games will be open to all age categories, but the majority of athletes will be in their youth, and as a result, we expect this spectacular sporting and cultural extravaganza to be very well attended by family and friends, from Aboriginal and Non-Aboriginal communities across Canada and the United States.

Winnipeggers, Manitobans and Canadians will benefit from an influx of tourists, economic spin-offs, and equipment and facilities used during the Games. But we all benefit when 5,000 volunteers and staff take home the intangible legacy of learning to run a world class event.

But most important of all, the 2002 North American Indigenous Games will leave an impression in the hearts and minds of indigenous people of Manitoba, Canada, and the United States. Not only will it unify Aboriginal communities of North America but it will provide hope, positive role models and enhance healthy lifestyles for the Youth of tomorrow.

Where: Sit-n-Bull Campground, Akwesasne Mohawk Territory

The Akwesasne Task Force on the Environment (ATFE), in cooperation with its many friends of the environment, is pleased to announce the Native American Black Ash and Basket making Conference and Workshop 2001. The event will be held on Akwesasne Mohawk territory, at the Sit and Bull fishing camp's conference area and pavillion. The conference area is majestically situated at the confluence of the St. Lawrence and Racquette rivers.

The event invites interested Native basket makers, especially from the Great Lakes and Northeast region who utilize Black Ash (AKA Brown Ash) in making baskets. Native basket makers who utilize other materials (i.e. - birch, reed, willow) are also encouraged to attend. The focus of the event will be to discuss preservation of Black Ash through planting and reproduction, and the associated arts of basket making and its support trades, (mold making, log pounding, etc.).

At the event:

Native speakers will discuss basket making and preservation issues, academics will discuss the research and study of Black Ash, forest managers will talk about the management of Black Ash trees, basket makers will discuss their styles, methods, and marketing.
