Should kitchen supplies be required the additional $50.00 charge will apply.

After the function, if the Centre is cleaned to the satisfaction of the custodian and all the kitchen supplies are accounted for the $100.00 additional deposit will be refunded when the keys are returned.

Effective June 1, 2007, and for a period of 6 months, The Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte will assume the role of inspecting most electrical projects on the Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory, as well as levying fees based on the Electrical Safety Authority fee schedule.

To better serve the community and its members, the Tyendinaga Mohawk Council has asked that the following procedure for public presentations to the Council be recognized. This procedure will ensure that the Council receives all pertinent information in order to serve you and the community. This procedure has not been established to hinder your access to the Council, but to enhance service in a timely fashion.

PROCEDURE FOR LOCAL BUSINESS

- Local Business Meetings are held the 2nd and 4th Wednesday's of each month at 7:00 p.m. unless otherwise notified.

The deadline for inclusion on the Local Business Agenda is the previous Friday at 12:00 p.m. Requests made after the deadline will be placed on the following Local Business Agenda.

The Tyendinaga Mohawk Council requires that the Community member provide a written statement on the issue the member wishes to discuss by the deadline. Assistance will be provided upon request. This will allow the staff the opportunity to gather any additional information on the issue so the Council can be fully informed and that your time is well spent.

All requests are to be directed to Angela Maracle, Administrative Officer, or Bonnie Thompson, Administrative Support.

The order for the agenda is determined on a first-come, first-serve basis and each slot is scheduled for 20 minutes.

Please be advised that Community members that do not follow this procedure will not be recognized to be heard at the meeting. This is to ensure that all the proper information is available to the Council so that an informed decision can be made that is fair and equitable to every member.

ENVIRONMENT

WHEN RECYCLING AT THE LANDFILL

Please be sure that ALL Recyclables are SORTED in the Right Bins.
This will ensure that everyone can go into the Recycling area to do the same.

Do not leave your recyclable materials at the doors of the Depot; this makes it very hard for others to utilize the area

As you may know that the hours of the Landfill Manager have been reduced, so everyone's cooperation in the matter is greatly appreciated

Also, Please be sure to put all waste into the Bins. This will free the area of blowing litter, and help with Rodent Control.

If you require more information on Sorting Recyclable, Look Through this Month's Issue for a Snip and Save Flyer.

EDUCATION

Trustee Report for May 2007

The Ontario Ministry of Education is continuing to work with Aboriginal Communities and Boards of Education across Ontario through district and regional meetings to improve the success rate for Aboriginal students. The Ontario Ministry of Education has used the term Aboriginal People to include First Nations, Metis and Inuit students.

Through this effort, Ontario educators share a commitment to ensuring that all students have the opportunity to achieve to their highest potential, both in school and in later life. Fulfilling this commitment requires a recognition that effective strategies must be developed to meet the particular educational needs of First Nations, Metis and Inuit students.

From the Ontario First Nations, Metis and Inuit Education Policy Framework in January, 2007, the Ontario Ministry of Education developed the following vision "First Nations, Metis, and Inuit students in Ontario will have the knowledge, skills, and confidence they need to successfully complete their elementary and secondary education or training and/or to enter the workforce. They will have the traditional and contemporary knowledge, skills, and attitudes required to be socially contributive, politically active, and economically prosperous citizens of the world. All students in Ontario will have knowledge and appreciation of contemporary and traditional First Nation, Metis, and Inuit traditions, cultures and perspectives".

This represents a partnership approach to improving Aboriginal Student success which can be viewed in a very positive way by everyone.

I will have more information on Building Bridges to Success for First Nations, Metis and Inuit students with regard to a confidential Aboriginal Student Self Identification Policy in my report next month.

Remember, if you have any questions or concerns, please call me at (613) 962-3595.

EDUCATION

ATTENTION ALL COMMUNITY MEMBERS....

We need your help at the community garden.
The garden is located north of the Head Start building on highway #2. You may have seen people tilling, working the ground and planting already this year.

The garden was started to support families in our community that wish to continue to learn and share our rich history of gardening. It is also for those of us who enjoy the good taste and health of eating fresh, home-grown vegetables. A variety of plants and seeds have been planted, including onions, peas, beans, and white corn.

For information about the garden and how you and your family or organization can get involved, contact Janice Brant at 613-396-3988.

The View From Here Citizen Black – Encore

Wednesday, June 13, 2007 at 10 pm, repeats Sunday June 17, 2007 at 10 pm
85 minutes
Directed by Debbie Melnyk

At one point in his career Conrad Black helmed one of the world's largest press empires. But now, as he faces racketeering charges in a Chicago courtroom, the media baron who had the power to influence the opinions of millions of citizens around the world through his newspapers is hoping his lawyers can sway the twelve in the jury box. In this feature-length documentary filmmaker Debbie Melnyk catches up with Black just as his world is beginning to crumble. Strapped for cash, facing angry shareholders who disapprove of his corporate governance practices, and weathering lawsuits and charges, Black is on his way down. But even when Conrad Black is being pushed from his throne, he still remains as feisty and confrontational as ever. Melnyk's encounters with him are both poignant and humorous, revealing a side of Conrad Black not seen in public. This is an eye-opening and entertaining portrait of a man who is emblematic in a role of our times: the corporate charlatan.

Amazing Planet – Encore

Tuesdays at 10 pm, beginning June 5, 2007
3 / 60 minutes
Narrated by Patricia Clarkson

Working with NASA and the U.S. Geological Survey, filmmakers create a visual time machine of planet Earth with computer-generated imagery - technology that makes it possible to see in seconds what took eons to create. In three awe-inspiring episodes, the powerful forces that shape our environment are all on display. Witness the bumper-car antics of continents, ice ages pulsing out of the poles and back again, the Himalayas surging upwards, and the march of sand dunes swallowing and then uncovering African villages.

In Born of Fire, learn how volcanoes drive plate tectonics, create new lands, and have the power to change life on Earth overnight. In Ocean Realm, learn how the planet's great seas formed, and explore their depths. And in Destructive Forces, see how water, ice and wind have carved some of our natural wonders like Niagara Falls and the Grand Canyon.

Masterworks My Architect: A Son's Journey – Encore

Thursday, June 14, 2007, at 10 pm
120 minutes
Directed by Nathaniel Kahn and Produced by Mediaworks Inc.

Renowned architect Louis Kahn inspired some of the world's top architects with his poetic designs of buildings like the Exeter Library, the Salk Institute, and the Bangladeshi Capitol Building. Despite his influence, the architectural giant was bankrupt when he was found dead in a men's room in New York's Penn Station, and little was known about his personal life. In this moving Oscar-nominated exploration, one of Louis' three kids, filmmaker Nathaniel Khan, attempts to understand his enigmatic dad by traveling the world, visiting his father's buildings and meeting his father's contemporaries, colleagues, students, wives and children.

And don't miss the encore presentation of Frank Lloyd Wright, airing Thursdays June 21 and 28 at 10 pm on Masterworks, as part of TVO's three weeks of architecture documentaries this month. The two-part film explores the life and work of the famed American architect whose creations have set standards for design to this day.

Public Relations program, new on-line emphasis, added to Indigenous Communications Journalism program at FNTI

Indigenous Communications at First Nations Technical Institute is changing its three-year journalism diploma program and, in September, adding a new one-year public relations program.

"Both programs are about telling our own stories," says new coordinator Dan David. "Both will have a strong new emphasis on delivering those stories on-line. As always, we'll emphasize excellence and encourage students to take stories rooted in their own communities to the world at large."

David says, "If you know prospective students...working adults who need credentials, or recent high school grads... who want hands-on Aboriginal journalism or public relations training with lots of internship time in real world media jobs...send them to us."

Graduates receive credentials from FNTI's partner institutions, a Journalism-Aboriginal Profile diploma from Humber Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning, or a Public Relations certificate from Loyalist College of Applied Arts and Technology.

"Our full-time programs, in which intensive class sessions alternate with internship placements, are ideal for people who don't want to leave their home communities for a year or three at a time," says David, whose background includes APTN, CBC and a wide variety of both public relations and reporting work.

Call Wendy Sero at 1-800-267-0637, ext. 160 or email wendyr@fnti.net to receive brochures for both programs and application forms. Prospective students are encouraged to check out Indigenous Communications at FNTI on line at www.fnti.net or at fnti.blogspot.com

RE: Good Baby Box Orders

Dear Parents:

From this date forward:

- Parents are responsible for paying for the Box by the Friday before the pick up date. If boxes are not paid for at that time, we will not be able to pick up your box. It is becoming too much of a deficit for the Community Development Council. If you do not have the money until a certain time, you are able to pick them up yourself or you can also pay in advance for a certificate. We encourage each family to pay in advance when it is possible for you to do so.
- we will be delivering the Boxes to Mohawk Family Services.
- Each parent is responsible for picking up, or having someone else pick it up by 4:30 on the Tuesday of delivery.

We will continue to order and pick up every other Tuesday.

We will work very hard at having the boxes there for 1:30 pm. If you like, you can call the Mohawk Family Services before going to ensure that they are there. It is imperative that these boxes are picked up on the Tuesday. We cannot be responsible for them after that time. If you are unable to pick up your box, please contact us to make alternate arrangements.

Thank you so much for your time and patience in getting this program organized. I appreciate your assistance and look forward to working with your family. If you have any questions or concerns regarding this issue, please do not hesitate to contact myself or Barbara Gail Brant, HBHC Home Visitor. We will work with you in order to continue offering this important service.

Sincerely,

Kim Maracle, Program Manager

BREASTFEEDING CIRCLE

"There's no reason for me to even get up at night when my wife is nursing the baby. I feel bad. If I'm not a part of this twosome, then there's something missing. It shouldn't be my wife's responsibility to raise a child; it should be an equal kind of arrangement. But there's nothing I can do. How can I help my partner, and be a dad to my baby?"

TIPS for BREASTFEEDING DADS

- * Nestle with your partner and child, resting your hand gently on your baby's back or on your partner's shoulder.
- * At non-nursing times, bring your baby to your breast. Cuddling, walking, or relaxing while supporting your infant against your bare chest provides warm, invigorating, skin-to-skin contact . . . nutrients babies (and dads) need plenty of! (If your baby wants to latch-on to your breast, that's ok . . . there's more to breastfeeding than breastmilk!)
- * Take night walks or drives with your baby.
- * Be a comfort giver by rocking your baby, singing, burping, or changing a diaper.
- * Babies especially love hearing the sound of the male voice coming from their head resting against your voice box.
- * Shower with your baby tucked in close to your chest. Some baby carriers are well-designed with this purpose in mind. Don't worry about smothering; by nature's design, babies nostrils flare out to the sides to accommodate breathing in close quarters).
- * Practise infant massage. (Book and video tape available on loan from Thayendanege Health Centre)

DIABETES INFORMATION

WHY IS PHYSICAL ACTIVITY IMPORTANT???

1. Positive impact on your Mental Health and well-being.
2. Feeling more energetic, sleeping better, feeling calmer, coping better with the demands of daily living.
3. Prevent or delay Type 2 Diabetes, obesity, heart disease, depression, and some cancers

Youth facts:

Regular physical activity is important for healthy growth and development. The average age for being diagnosed with type 2 diabetes is getting younger! Two of the biggest risk factors for type 2 diabetes—physical inactivity and obesity—are high among Aboriginal children and youth.

More than 40% of First Nations youth are overweight or obese. Approximately 60% of children are overweight or obese. Overweight children can affect their ability to reach their full potential at school. Overweight children are more likely to have sleep problems.

Physically active children and youth are less likely to be overweight and less likely to become involved with health risk behaviours such as smoking, delinquency, alcohol, and drugs.

To A Child in Our Heart

*O precious tiny sweet little one you will always be to me,
So perfect pure and innocent just as you were meant to be.
We dreamed of you and of your life and all that it would be,
We waited and longed for you to come and join our family.
We never had the chance to play, to laugh, to rock, to wiggle,
We longed to hold you, touch you now and listen to you giggle.*

But now you're gone, but yet you are here,

We'll sense you everywhere,

You are our sorrow and our joy there's love in every tear.

Just know our love goes deep and strong,

We'll forget you never.

The child we had, but never had and yet we'll have forever.

OHAHASE/HOPE EXCHANGE TRIP TO ALBERTA 2007

The Ohahase/Hope students and staff participated in the YMCA Youth Exchanges Canada Program for the second year in a row.

YMCA Youth Exchanges Canada gives youth a chance to expand their vision of themselves and other communities. It is an exchange between two groups of similar size in different communities. Each group hosts the other.

Exchange activities- preparing to travel, traveling and hosting, doing follow-up events are opportunities for participants to work with their community, develop their interpersonal and group skills and learn about the diversity of Canada's people.

This year Ohahase/Hope hosted fourteen students and three adults from Goodfish Lake and Saddle Lake Cree Nations in Alberta from April 21-27.

Activities included a community fish fry, trips to The Museum of Civilization and Parliament Buildings, a tour of Bergerons Wild Cat Sanctuary, a social, canoeing and BBQ, plane rides to see Tyendinaga and surrounding area (complements of FNTI Aviation), an exchange breakfast with Chief Donald Maracle and Councilor Trevor Lewis and a traditional craft activity(water drum building) to name a few.

All of the Ohahase/Hope staff and students worked together to make our guests time at TMT both comfortable and meaningful.

I would like to take this opportunity to personally thank all those people who helped in anyway to make the exchange experience a huge success.

The following students and staff traveled to Vilna Alberta for a seven day exchange from May 13-19.

The Goodfish Lake and Saddle Lake Cree Nations are approximately 200km northeast of Edmonton.

Some of the activities while in Alberta included day trips to Edmonton for a tour of the Royal Alberta Museum, a full day in the West Edmonton Mall, tours of Goodfish Lake and Saddle Lake reserves, traditional Cree rattle making craft(all students and staff brought a rattle home), climbing walls and zip-lines at the Birch Bay Ranch, and a golfing day at the Vilna Golf Club.

All of the Ohahase/Hope students were very well behaved and excellent ambassadors for our school and Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory.Both Tracy and myself are proud of the students.

POSTCARDS FROM THE VISION QUEST

by Joseph Brant

I'm coming home!!!

By the time you read this I'll be right there, living among you, at Tyendinaga. How exciting is that? I know I've only hinted at it a few times this past while but a couple months ago I finally threw down the gauntlet, whatever that means, and decided it's time to move home.

I can't wait. I think I'm gonna take the train. There shouldn't be any problems if I take the train, right?

You got it: I'm gonna play stupid. I just know there are so many stories up there, so many more than the ones I've read about in the newspaper and watched on TV clips posted on the Internet. We're all not necessary political beings, of course. I think it will be fascinating to be present—at my HOME—during such a...uhm...potentially significant time historically.

This season has already been dubbed "The Summer of Discontent" by a few media outlets, which, I think, makes me kind of sad. If I ever have a biographer, he or she will be forced to write these words, "When Joe moved home in 2007, it was a summer of discontent."

I anticipate so much feeling, such a rush of sensations, memories blinding me as they race to the forefront in my mind. You have to remember: I moved to Nashville straight (straight, even!) out of high school, just before my 19th birthday. So just before then I'd spent thirteen years, every single school-day morning, standing at the end of my parent's driveway, only to nervously rush to prepare my belongings as the top flashing lights of the school bus crept up the Ridge Road.

I did that for thirteen years. That's just one more than the entire amount of time I've lived here. I can't think of anything that I've done so consistently since. My car. Perhaps my car is the only constant during my time here. My poor car. It's always been a rez car. If you could see a picture of it, you'd laugh until it hurt. It's been through everything and back (and for 200 bucks, this time next week just before I pack the U-Haul up for home, it'll be someone else's).

So much has changed. I learned about the music business here. I learned about Christianity; and accepted it for a while, rejected it for another while. I learned about credit cards (the hard way). I learned about working in a small office, a medium sized office, a retail store. I learned to write, and read. I learned what's important and what's not—depending on the audience, my mood, or the day.

Two of the most significant reasons why I feel I can find my way back home, though, are the Internet and my newfound comfort with country music.

You have to admit: the Internet has changed everything about...everything. When I lived at home I only fantasized about all the information that's mostly free for the asking on the Internet these days. I remember (I've said this before) literally staring out the front window at my parents' home, when I was young, and thinking to myself, "there is SO much out there and I just can't wait to get out there and see it," and yet it seems all of that—with the right modem and connection—is available anywhere anyway.

And when I moved here, I already knew so much about country music. But, once I got here, I realized there were many different versions of me budding up in every small town in America, too. Much as I knew, there were others who knew it too, or more. And even that didn't matter: within a matter of years, we were all taught a lot more. So when it came time to graduate and get a job in the music industry, I reached a sort of crossroads where I had to decide whether I loved this industry that much, or if there was something else out there for me.

It took me (no lie) about two years to get over all the religion that seemed to hang like a cloud over the campus at Belmont University. I look back now on the confusion and am shocked that I could find my way through it. I have no prejudice against Christianity, don't get me wrong. The way I experienced it there, though, I found troubling.

It took me another three years to really understand that my identity is my own. I moved away from home partly because I believed there were no gay people at Tyendinaga, that there was no opportunity for my healthy development. I was wrong, of course, but I've learned these past three years—spent deep in this community here in Nashville—that, regardless to our affiliation, one of the great challenges for any one of any minority group is to refrain from quantifying or qualifying ourselves to please others.

It's like we all live up to whatever the expectation is for us and hope that someday someone will tap us on the shoulder and say, "Okay, you've filled all the requirements. We'll let you in now." It's taken a long time for me to realize that person doesn't exist: that I am who I am, even if I want to be so stubborn as to define myself only as "me." Though I believe I've always been smart enough to know that, it seems I needed to experience it for myself from the inside out, this time.

At the beginning of this seemingly never ending search for self, back when I was a teenager, it seems I latched onto country music. I listened to the radio, to the countdown shows religiously as a teenager. I subscribed to industry journals and scoured newspapers and magazines for everything from celebrity gossip to news affecting only the background players in the industry. It was that one piece of comfort I had when I was young. Yes, I had the love of my family, too but, to be honest, I may have always taken that for granted.

I don't regret my education, mostly because it taught me to learn, to be inquisitive. It directly led me to here, now. And what I have now is a pretty clear picture of who I am, and of what I can contribute to my community. That's what a vision quest is for, you know.

One of the big ironies of all these letters I've contributed to this newsletter after all these years is that I've never sent in a picture. In the past, I'm sure it didn't matter. I realize now how valuable one is: I've been writing a weekly column for a small newspaper here in Nashville and for the past few months I've included a picture and now I'm routinely shocked to learn that so many people read what I'm writing, that so many feel they can talk to me when they see me, and—I'm genuinely surprised—by the selflessness of those who offer a compliment.

So, for those of you who've not the damndest idea who I am, you'll find out soon enough. I have a few ideas I'm hoping to implement when I get home, beyond a monthly missive to the Tyendinaga Newsletter (which I'm hoping to continue, too)—and there just might even be a picture connected to one of them. But trust me: that by far will not be the most exciting part of it.

It's been a great journey down here, and I'm so excited to start this new chapter at home, you just don't know. I'll be in touch.

Beach Road Clean-Up

2007 Report

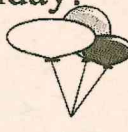

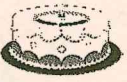

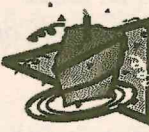

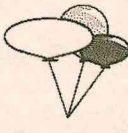

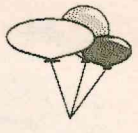

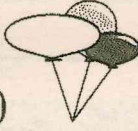

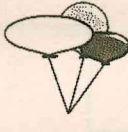

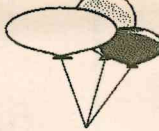

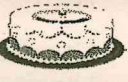

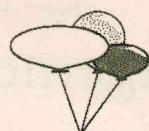

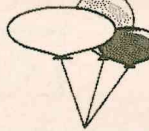

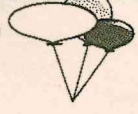

On May 5th friends, neighbors and kids gathered 4 pick-up truck-loads of trash—including a boat! — in their annual clean-up. Next Year: 1st Saturday in May is the date; we plan to have a truck just for recycling— sorting as we pick-up; we will remind neighbors with a flyer asking them to do their frontage if possible.

Ask your neighbors to help with road clean-up.

Celebrate after with a pot-luck bar-b-que

There is a Spirit Award rewarded to one team with exceptional team spirit. This year the competition was fierce; there was a flashback to the eighties, flying granola bars, umbrella hats with the Canadian flag, BBQ's, mardi gras ladies, matching shirts, and many noisy people.

This year many companies showed their support by giving donations. Almost every event day, lunch was supplied for our volunteers by a local restaurant; including East Sides, Boston Pizza, Toppers, and Arby's. Pepsi-QTG donated cases and cases of Gatorade, Propel, and granola bars. Many companies donated gift certificates for an early registration draw. For these generous donations, we would like to say a great big, Thank You!

Heart&Stroke Ambassador Brief

JUNE | STROKE MONTH

June is Stroke Awareness Month. Knowing the five warning signs of stroke could save valuable time if someone you love is experiencing them. Reaching hospital quickly gives stroke patients a better chance at receiving a clot-busting drug that can actually reverse the effects. So for many, it's as if the stroke never occurred. Learn the five warning signs at heartandstroke.ca/stroke

RESULTS THAT CHANGE LIVES

...through research

Approximately one third of stroke survivors are diagnosed with some form of aphasia, a difficulty in understanding or producing language that results from brain damage. Windsor-based researchers Dr. Arpita Bose and Dr. Lori Buchanan have just been granted a three-year-fellowship grant from the Heart and Stroke Foundation to help determine how patients recover speech and language skills after a stroke, and how group therapy can help them reach their goals. "Aphasia is devastating and it makes it difficult to socialize and interact with friends and loved ones, and often causes isolation and depression," says Dr. Bose. She is examining how ability to recover various speech and language skills evolves at different times after stroke. Each participant will undergo a series of language experiments, such as trying to name a picture with different types of cues or deciding if a series of letters on a computer screen is a word or not. Patients will also participate in a group therapy program, once a week for eight weeks.

...through leadership in stroke care

At the International Stroke Conference in San Francisco recently, Dr. Antoine Hakim, Scientific Director of the Canadian Stroke Network, received the Thomas Willis Award, the American Stroke Association's highest honour. It recognizes a senior investigator who has made outstanding contributions to the understanding of stroke over a sustained period. His leadership and efforts helped create an integrated approach to stroke prevention, care and recovery through the Canadian Stroke Strategy (CSS). The Network unites university- and hospital-based researchers across Canada, while the CSS is an initiative developed in partnership with the Heart and Stroke Foundation. Dr. Hakim is professor and chair of neurology at the University of Ottawa's Faculty of Medicine and director of neuroscience research at the Ottawa Health Research Institute.

...through professional education

We're providing an exciting new resource on secondary stroke prevention to assist healthcare providers in managing mini-strokes (TIAs) and early symptoms of stroke. Key topics will include:

- TIA facts
- Medical management of TIAs
- Links to best practice guidelines and current evidence
- Secondary Prevention Clinics: where they are and what they do
- Educational resources related to stroke and stroke prevention

This new resource will be available on the Foundation's professional education Web site profed.heartandstroke.ca soon.

OUTDOOR SPORTS TIME

Youth baseball started Monday May 28 at 6:30pm. The Recreation Committee are welcoming youth to come out and volunteer their time to coach. It's never to late to come out to the ball diamonds and have some good-old fashion fun.

Youth soccer started Tuesday May 31 at Quinte Mohawk School. You can leave messages for the Soccer Committee on the canteen phone (613) 396-5339. It is great that so many parents and youth are active doing some out door sports.

The Beach volleyball court and the lacrosse box is also available for outdoor sports.

The Recreation depart. only received a couple of calls for the Bodacious Babes baseball, it's never to late to sign up or just come out and have fun on Tuesday night, starting June 12 at 6:30pm.

Tyendinaga Celebration of Dance

We had around 170 people and youth out for both shows, and received $640.00 of ticket sells.

We received 115 evaluations from the event and 65 youth reported they wanted to take part in dance next year. Someone even volunteered their wife to take dance.

The dancers were amazing and did a wonderful job on stage. Angela Maracle and myself (Darlene) will miss seeing the girls every week, we had a great year with them. We have decided that next year we will continue the After School dance program, it will be once a week on Fridays' for eight weeks. The weeks will be split up by age groups.

Canada Safety Council ATV Certification Course June 9th, 2007

Dates are now being identified for Canada Safety Council ATV training course to be conducted locally. The first date will be Saturday, June 9th at the Shannonville MX Track, 7002 Old Highway 2, Shannonville, west of Shannonville Motorsports Park.

The Canada Safety Council is best-known for providing the learn-to-ride motorcycle training programs at colleges such as Loyalist College. For years, they have been safely educating riders who wish to earn their motorcycle licenses.

The ATV Ridercourse is structured for new and experienced ATV enthusiasts to develop and practice riding techniques to enhance enjoyment and reduce ATV related injuries. This program is now mandatory in 3 provinces for those who wish to operate an ATV, and expected to become the standard in other provinces. An official certificate is provided to successful candidates at the end of the program.

The day-long program covers choosing protective gear, the pre-ride inspection, environmental practices, local law and safety techniques. The majority of the day is spent in rider drills on a pylon course focused on making each participant a better rider within their own skill level. Practices involve terrain anticipation and adaptation as well as exercises to deal with emergency situations, accident avoidance as well as a trail ride. A reference handbook is also provided.

Three different Ridercourses are offered. For those over 16, the class is limited to 8 riders allowing for a low rider to instructor ratio. A separate course is available for students 12 to 15 years of age where the class maximum is 6 and engine size is limited to the national standard of 90cc. Youngsters aged 6 - 11 also have the opportunity to learn safe ATVing. Class size for this age group is limited to 4 participants to keep the attention of those young active minds. Quads must be no larger than 70cc and the parent must be in attendance at all times during the course. All students under the age of 18 must have their Waiver signed by a parent or legal guardian before the event.

During these courses, the emphasis is on safety. Participants must wear appropriate protective clothing including a helmet, over-the-ankle boots, long pants and gloves. Eye protection and long sleeved shirts are suggested.

Please note that legal exhausts are required at these events.

Courses will be offered throughout the summer at all levels depending on demand.

For those who register before June 15th, special introductory pricing is will be offered. Adult classes will be $45, age 12 - 15 will be $60 and youth programs will be $75. Registrations made after June 15 will be $75, $90 and $110 for each participant.
