Province completes first lap in bicycle safety

TORONTO -- The province is gearing up for bicycle safety as the one-year countdown to mandatory helmets begins.

"Ontario's 2-million cyclists should use their heads when it comes to safe cycling habits -- that includes wearing a helmet," said Transportation Minister Gilles Pouliot. "It could save your life or, at the very least, prevent serious head injuries."

More than 3,300 cyclists were injured and 27 killed on Ontario roads in 1992. Statistics also show that 75 per cent of cycling fatalities are the result of head injuries -- and that helmets can reduce the risk of head injury by 85 per cent.

In July 1993, the province passed a private member's bill to make wearing a bicycle helmet mandatory on October 1, 1995.

Since then, the Ministry of Transportation has formed the Bicycle Safety Team -- a task force to promote safe cycling and helmet use. The team includes partners from the cycling community, health and safety groups, police departments and other ministries.

During 1993, the ministry also forged ahead with a full range of activities including safe-cycling educational and marketing materials.

The province has also committed $3.5 million annually to improve trails, bike parking facilities and cycling skills training and to make it more convenient for cyclists to take advantage of local transit services.

With one year to go before helmets are mandatory the ministry intends to continue to form partnerships with other governments, the private sector and special interest groups to raise public awareness about proper safety equipment and safe cycling practices.

In the meantime, police officers will continue to remind cyclists about the upcoming helmet law during their normal enforcement activities.

"Our bicycle safety efforts go hand in hand with our overall commitment to make Ontario's roads the safest in North America," Pouliot added.

Bank of Montreal Opens First Aboriginal Branch in Québec

WASKAGANISH, October 13, 1994 – The Bank of Montreal today officially opened its first branch on aboriginal territory in Québec in Waskaganish. This Cree community is located on the southern tip of James Bay at the mouth of the Rupert River.

"It has been exactly one year since Chief Billy Diamond and the Band Council first approached us about providing members of the Waskaganish First Nation with full banking services," explained Gilles Jarry, Senior Vice-President, Québec Division. "Thanks to the community's advice and support, we have been able to move ahead at a rapid clip. In proceeding, our aim has been to respect the Cree language, culture, values and traditions, while ensuring our products and services are easily accessible."

The Bank of Montreal has translated key banking forms and product brochures into Cree and recruited its personnel from the community. In addition the Bank will be hosting information sessions on its banking system in the coming months for Elders, Youth, through the Cree School Board, and the community at large.

As part of the opening ceremony, Mr. Jarry presented a $2,500 Bank scholarship to be awarded at the discretion of the Band Council to a young Cree student. The winner of the scholarship will have excelled in his or her high school studies and demonstrated an interest in pursuing his or her education in business or finance.

"Today's announcement," explained Ron Jamieson, Vice-President, Aboriginal Banking, "is part of the Bank's goal of providing aboriginal communities with improved access to financial services and hiring of aboriginal staff. Since establishing the Aboriginal unit two years ago, we have opened branches in aboriginal communities stretching from British Columbia to the Northwest Territories and Ontario. In addition, working with the Government of Canada, we were instrumental in ensuring individuals and businesses on reserves are eligible for loans under the Small Business Loans Act."

The new branch will serve members of the Waskaganish First nation as well as the surrounding communities through electronic banking. "The opening of the Branch is further evidence of the Bank's commitment to expanding its business with aboriginal communities across Canada," added Mr. Jarry. "In so doing, we will continue to partner with Aboriginal People. This is not only the right and just thing to do, it also makes good business sense."

TORONTO -- Ontario's professional baseball, basketball, football and hockey teams have faced off but it's too early to tell who the leaders will be in licence plate logo sales.

ENHANCED BURSARY/SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM FOR FIRST NATIONS, INUIT AND MÉTIS

OTTAWA - Health Minister Diane Marleau announced today that between 25 and 50 additional students will be able to participate in the Indian and Inuit Health Careers Program (IIHCP) this year.

Increased funding for the program fulfills a commitment made in the Liberal Red Book, Creating Opportunities, to triple the number of bursaries and scholarships available through this program. Funding for IIHCP will increase this year from $100,000 to $300,000.

In making the announcement, Madame Marleau indicated that increasing the number of Aboriginal health professionals and para-professionals trained through this program can make an important contribution to building healthy communities and increasing the autonomy of Aboriginal health services in Canada. She added that this initiative is also consistent with recommendations made by the Canadian Medical Association in Bridging the Gap as it will provide assistance to Aboriginal medical students as well as those pursuing studies in other health disciplines.

IIHCP was established in 1984 to increase the representation of Aboriginal peoples in the health professions. The program was specifically designed to encourage and support Aboriginal participation in educational opportunities leading to professional and para-professional careers in health care. Since 1984, 246 students have received bursaries and 148 students have received scholarships. It also provides resources to universities and other educational institutions to create a learning environment designed to overcome social and cultural barriers that have, in the past, inhibited Aboriginal student's educational achievement.

Funding for this initiative was provided for in the February 1994 federal budget and is therefore built into the existing fiscal framework. It has been made available by re-prioritizing the resources within the IIHCP. This targeting of resources will ensure that Aboriginal students have wider access to the IIHCP. This announcement is an example of how this government is prioritizing its spending so that it can better serve Canadians by making efficient use of their tax dollars.

* NOTICE DIABETES PREVENTION PROJECT

The evaluation of the Kahnawake Schools Diabetes Prevention Project will be starting the first week of November at Quinte Mohawk School. The Evaluation Team has the support of Chief and Council and of the Quinte Mohawk School Committee for this project.

The Kahnawake prevention project is a community based initiative aimed at giving children basic knowledge, skills and family and community support to engage in lifestyle changes that would prevent diabetes as they grow into adulthood.

The information collected from Quinte Mohawk students will serve as a comparison group with the data collected at Kahnawake. The information obtained will become the property of the Tyendinaga community which may be used at a later date to implement a similar health program for the children of Tyendinaga.

The Evaluation Team will be collecting data on the eating and exercise habits of Quinte Mohawk students. There will be no blood samples, medication, or discomforting procedures given to the children. Because diabetes takes many years to develop, we do not expect to demonstrate a reduction in the number of people afflicted with this disease within the duration of the project. However, we expect to see changes in the dietary and exercise behavior of the children in Kahnawake. These changes should eventually help prevent diabetes on a long term basis.

The Evaluation Team consist of community members: Lisa Maracle, Barbara Maracle and Anne Maracle, who will be under the direction of Serge Desrosiers.

The Team will be administering a questionnaire and taking important body measurements, such as height, weight and skinfolds.

Participation of Quinte Mohawk students is very important in order for there to be a sufficient comparison group for the Kahnawake Project.

A health program, specifically designed for Native people, is currently being developed and implemented in every schools in Kahnawake. If this program is successful, the Native health program will be available to any Native community who wish to implement such a program.

All of the information concerning the Kahnawake intervention will be accessible to the community of Tyendinaga. If the people of Tyendinaga decide eventually to put in place their own program, key people from Kahnawake, could help implement a similar project in the community of Tyendinaga. Therefore, the participation and support from the community is very crucial and greatly appreciated.

If there are any questions or concerns, do not hesitate to call Lisa Maracle (966-6984) or Serge Desrosiers (514 635-4374).

Hunters, hides, hats and Aboriginal artisans combine each season to form a strong circle of co-operation and conservation.

Thousands of hunters, the majority of whom are non-Native, make full use of their game (deer, moose and bear) by dropping the hides off at local collection depots each fall. In return, a hunter's orange hat with a collectable series of artwork is given in appreciation.

This exchange allows more hides to be accessible to Aboriginal artisans, who make fine crafts, moccasins, gloves and clothing.

MOCCASIN TRAIL NEWS

Congratulations to all of those dedicated people who are still "moving for miles"! You must be feeling healthier! You are doing a wonderful job, keep it up! Starting in the month of November we will be awarding a prize to the special "MOCCASIN MOVER". So don't think you won't win a prize because your mileage is lower than others, anyone can win! Everyone who comes to the health centre and reports their mileage will be eligible. All the names will be put in a hat and your name could be drawn as the special Moccasin Mover for the month. REMEMBER your most important competitor is yourself because you are walking your way to a healthier lifestyle.

Our winning walkers for the month of September are:

1st Carol Loft with 209.8 miles. When does this girl sleep? Great work Carol!

2nd Joan (Clifford) Brant with 75.72 miles. What a great role model for all young seniors!

3rd Lisa M. Maracle (Millie & Reg's daughter) with 74 miles. Another positive inspiration for our program.

Just a reminder, when we first started this program we mentioned that it was based on the new attitude of taking responsibility for your own health and overall wellness. In our research we have found that this new attitude is being discovered among many professionals as is mentioned in the following article from the Weekly Guide.

Developing a new attitude

Recently I enjoyed the good fortune of attending an international fitness conference. It was a great learning experience. A more positive view of fitness I have yet to see.

I returned renewed and expectant, awaiting the positive future of fitness. Fitness and health as a whole life experience — one that equally includes body, mind and spirit.

It is becoming more prevalent in our lives that to be, or to stay healthy takes more effort than exercising three times weekly and eating the right foods. (Keep in mind this is a wonderful place to start).

Sometimes we find with all the research taking place, what is good for our bodies today may be deadly tomorrow. So what to do?!

To begin, the best rule to follow continuously is: everything in moderation.

The second is to slow down, try repeating this phrase to yourself throughout the day, "take your time."

It may seem odd for a fitness trainer to return from a weekend fitness conference with two small life affirmations.

It speaks loud and clear about where the fitness industry is headed, and I for one, really feel good about the directional change I see happening.

This industry has come a long way since I began my career. Ten years ago conferences were held to teach newer and more innovative ways to make people sweat without causing any long term damage.

There has been a distinct change. Now we are viewing ourselves as a whole; body, mind and spirit.

This holistic approach will provide us with abundant benefits, to our bodies as well as our emotional, psychological and spiritual selves. Take care of each part with care.

This conference brought that home to me. We are so much more than our physical bodies.

Seminars were offered in stress management, as well as daily living with affirmations, or we could choose to learn ways to channel our energies and become champions in all aspects of daily life.

These workshops/lectures were viewed on an equally important level as the latest in choreography, step or muscle toning.

It was heartening for me to see that as a society, we are beginning to look inward a little more, learning to value all of ourselves.

Drawing a step closer to comprehending what beautiful, successful and healthy means, as we work towards a greater understanding of what it means to Be Fit All Over!

Jude Tunbridge is owner and operator of Bodies in Motion and is a certified Fitness Instructor with the Ontario Fitness Council and an Ontario Fitness Council Workshop Trainer.

Dear "Successful Candidate must be of Aboriginal Ancestry":

Thank you for your letter of October 21, 1994, outlining your concerns on the criteria to apply for a position.

Many of the positions offered have a criteria attached to the funding that requires the employing of Aboriginal Ancestry only. The inability to secure a person of Aboriginal Ancestry means the inability to obtain the funding. Unfortunately, this is not criteria that the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte have written or implied, but rather it has been established elsewhere.

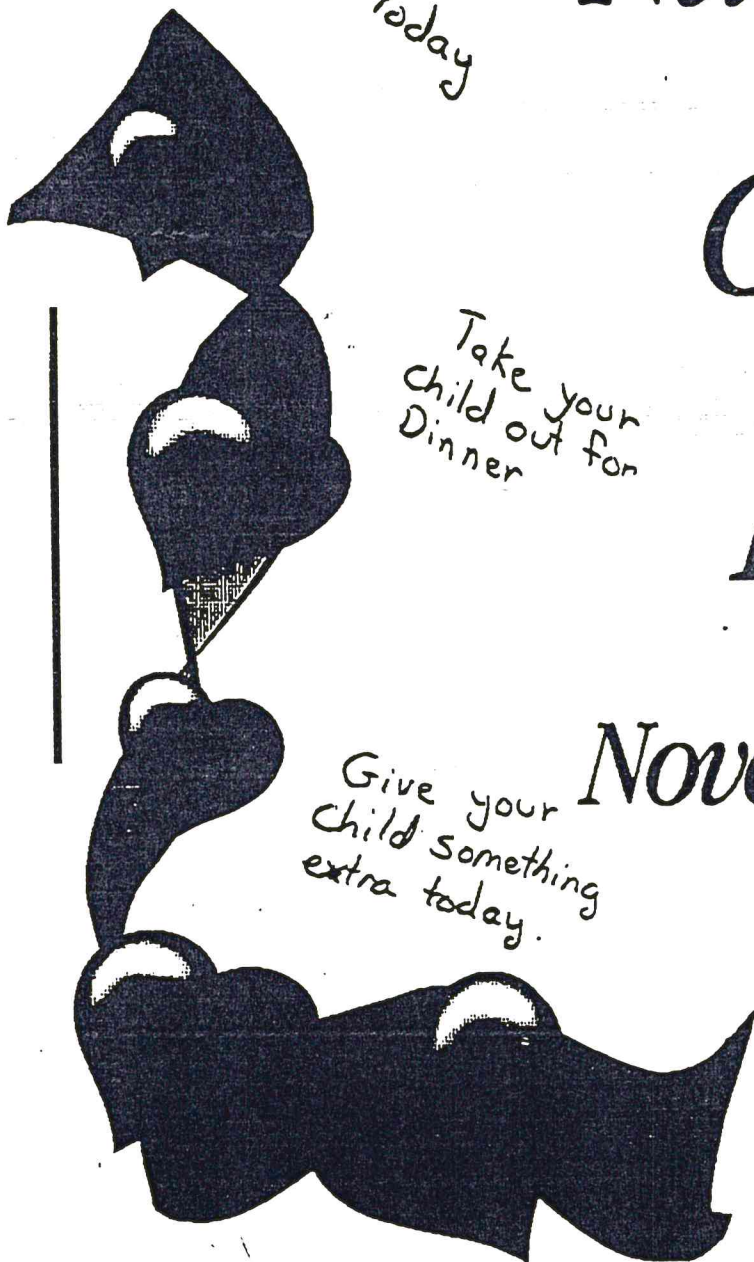

Our establishment employs a variety of individuals - Native and Non-Native. I hope this addresses your concerns.

Sincerely,

Wonders of the World

h see the many tragic things
hat happen day by day,
hen people choose to take a drug o make them feel O.K.

hey think they'll take a little,
nd that their need will never grow,
ut just who's kidding who? And who gets hurt?
what I want to know.

here are so many drugs to choose from ...
ome are old, and some are new,
ome promise courage and happiness,
ut what do they really do?

hey tear apart homes and families,
hey steal away futures and dignity,
ike thieves that come in the night.

ut see the many wondrous things
hat happen day by day,
hen people choose to live their lives
et another way.

hen people open up their eyes
o the wonders all around,
hey get their "highs" from work and play ith two feet on the ground.

ve don't need artificial things
o make us feel complete ll that we need we have inside,
he answer is so sweet.

ut down these drugs and take a walk,
eel the wind upon your face,
njoy the simple, lovely things hat occupy your space.

accept the wonders of the world
hey are the gifts for you and me.
Ve don't need drugs, we just need love
o set our spirits free.
