POLICING UNDERFUNDING - HUMAN RIGHTS COMPLAINT

Grand Chief Stan Louttit of the Mushkegowuk First Nations Council and George Wesley filed a Human Rights complaint with Her Majesty The Queen in the right of Canada and Ontario on July 12, 2007 due to the systemic and chronic under-funding of First Nations policing.

The Honourable Justice Sidney B. Linden, Commissioner of the Ipperwash Inquiry summed up the core of the complaint as an issue of equality and fairness. There is no reason why residents of a First Nation in Ontario should have lower quality of policing than non-Aboriginal Ontarians do.

Canada and Ontario are responsible for overseeing and funding the services and facilities and it is alleged in the Human Rights complaint that they are unequally providing services and facilities on an adversely differential basis due to ancestry, ethnic origin and race.

The complainants seek appropriate redress in the form of adequate funding for policing services in and around the Mushkegowuk communities that are customarily available to the public in general.

The Mushkegowuk Council is represented by Klippensteins, Barristers and Solicitors from Toronto.

The Mushkegowuk complaint is relevant to nearly every First Nation in Ontario since nearly every First Nation have complained for decades about serious inadequate funding to have appropriate levels of police complement, adequate facilities and equipment and pay and retirement provisions for officers.

INDIAN RESIDENTIAL SCHOOL SETTLEMENT

The Indian Residential School Settlement Agreement was finalized on September 19, 2007. The period for former students to opt out of the Settlement Agreement ended on August 20, 2007 with approximately 200 opt out notices. An additional 30 days was required for an appeal period which will expire on September 19, 2007.

Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC)

AFN officials have been working with the Interim Executive Director of the TRC, Bob Watts, to establish the TRC. A public notice was advertised in national newspapers and sent to all Band Offices and regional PTO's regarding the nomination process for three Commissioners which closed on August 14, 2007. Over 350 nominations were received. A selection panel has been established to develop a short list of names for recommendation to the Minister of Indian Affairs and the National Chief. As was negotiated in the Settlement Agreement, the National Chief will be consulted on the final appointment of the three Commissioners. The selection panel has two appointed by the AFN. The anticipated time frame for the selection panel process is to confirm the appointment of Commissioners by mid to late October.

AFN officials have also been in discussions with the Interim Office of the Executive Director of the TRC regarding the way in which the TRC will be structured. Essentially, the TRC will be a separate government department with its own lump sum budget of approximately $58 million dollars to complete its work within five years. Efforts are being made to ensure its maximum independence, credibility, effectiveness and financial efficiencies so that the majority of the budget can be applied to the work of the TRC rather than administration costs.

The Settlement Agreement also provides for the creation of an Indian Residential School Survivor Advisory Group to advise the Commissioners in the course of their work. Appointments to this committee have not yet been made. The AFN will be using its best efforts to establish the criteria and qualifications for appointment to this committee to ensure top quality advice is provided to the Commission.

In July, then Indian Affairs Minister, Jim Prentice, requested that the Office of the interim Director of the TRC explore the issue of children that died or went missing while attending Residential Schools, along with unmarked burials. An ad hoc working group is chaired by Bob Watts to address this important matter.

As a related matter, the AFN has also been addressing the issue of missing records. The AFN has only recently become aware of the scope of this issue. Through government policy to deliberately destroy documents, and other natural disasters that may have occurred during the residential school era, many student records have been destroyed or have gone missing. Clearly, this will have a detrimental impact not only the work of the TRC, but also the Common Experience Payment process and independent Assessment Program under the Settlement Agreement because it will impact the burden of proof survivors will have to meet to make their claim. This is a very serious matter and, accordingly, there is much concern. The government of Canada is currently reluctant to inform of the exact magnitude of this problem for fear that if this information landed in the wrong hands, people would take advantage by making fallacious claims for the periods in which records are unavailable to verify attendance. Discussions are still underway and if the government persists in its refusal to disclose this information, the Settlement Agreement provides recourse to the courts to order such disclosure. Given the importance of this issue, we may seriously consider a court application as an option.

MATRIMONIAL REAL PROPERTY ON RESERVE – MRP

A report entitled "Discussion Paper : Matrimonial Real Property on Reserve" dated November 28, 2002 was published by Cornet Consulting and Mediation.

On June 9, 2003, then Minister of Indian Affairs Mr. Robert D. Nault reported that the Standing Committee on Human Rights would undertake a short term study on the issue of on reserve matrimonial real property. Minister Nault recognized at that time that the issue was complex and that it raises the fundamental issue of how to balance the collective/community rights with the interests and rights of individuals. It also raises concerns and questions with respect to land management regimes. The Cornet Consulting paper did not suggest any options or solutions but only provided background legal information.

On June 21, 2006, then Minister of Indian Affairs Mr. Jim Prentice announced nation-wide consultations on MRP and appointed Wendy Grant-John as Ministerial Representative, to prepare a report and make recommendations on solutions and doing so to work with the Assembly of First Nation (AFN) and Native Women's Association Canada (NWAC) to achieve consensus where possible on solutions and recommendations. The Minister committed $2.7 million to both AFN and NWAC to facilitate the consultations. Neither the Chiefs of Ontario nor the Tyendinaga Mohawk Council participated in the consultations. Council approved a letter dated, March 2, 2007 endorsing the position of the Chiefs of Ontario resolution 06/88.

Wendy Grant-John tabled her report with the Minister of Indian Affairs on March 9, 2007. The report recommended federal legislation with a provision which would allow First Nations to pass their own MRP law consistent with broad federal standards. It was unclear if the proposed legislation was delegated or enabling authority. The legislation was to be reviewed within a three year period after passage. AFN and NWAC both expressed political support for the Ministerial report as an appropriate starting point for pursuing an effective remedy.

The Chiefs of Ontario passed resolution 06/88 stating that government has a duty to consult on the legislation and encouraged First Nations to assert their inherent jurisdiction and develop their own laws.

In July, 2007, AFN officials were contacted by INAC to attend a meeting to review and comment on the first draft of legislation. AFN found the draft to be generally unacceptable. NWAC also identified that significant redrafting of the legislation was required.

On August 29 – 30, 2007, a second meeting was held with AFN, INAC and NWAC to discuss a second draft of proposed legislation. The AFN continues to oppose the legislation because it falls short of its mandate and direction.

CANADA – US BORDER CROSSING

In June, 2007, the United States Government posted a Notice of Proposed Rule Making (NPRM), which would require a passport at some future date. The deadline to provide comments on the NPRM was August 20, 2007. The Iroquois Caucus responded on July 23, 2007 to the United States Customs and Border Protection Office of International Trade, Office of Regulations and Rulings, Border Security Regulations Branch in Washington DC.

The submission was submitted on behalf of the seven Iroquois Caucus communities of which the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte are part. The submission proposed that the United States government accept a secure card as an acceptable alternative identification document. We are currently awaiting a response from the United States Government.

IROQUOIS CAUCUS

The Iroquois Caucus desired to work collaboratively with the Haudonosaunee Confederacy on the USA border initiative. We enclose for your perusal the Confederacy's response in a letter dated August 14, 2007.

Six Nations "Iroquois" Confederacy
GRAND RIVER COUNTRY

August 14, 2007

To The Iroquois Caucus,

We, the Hodiyaneshoh of the Haudenosaunee Six Nations Confederacy have an obligation and responsibility to protect and uphold the Gayenahsragowah, known today as the Great Law of Peace. Our government is represented by the circle wampum, symbolized by the 50 chiefs standing hand in hand, reminding us that all things within that circle, including our people, our lands and our law, we are obligated to protect. We do not have a choice in the matter.

Recent actions and correspondence have caused us some concern and we have to ask, at what point will you agree to follow the direction of the Confederacy and uphold and protect the Law provided by the Peacemaker and step away from the Indian Act which was implemented through force by the Crown, and continues today with its genocidal policies against us through Indian Affairs and the Government of Canada. To the Hodiyaneshoh there is no question. The Gayenahsragowah cannot be changed. We cannot go half way. We cannot choose which law to follow. If you decide that you want to come back into the circle, you must leave behind the Indian Act.

The Hodiyaneshoh must ask, are you now ready to return back inside the circle and renounce the Indian Act and accept once again the Great Peace? Are you now ready to work in accordance to the Law provided through Our Creator, in protection of all Onkwehonweh and all of Creation for the greater good of all. These are the thoughts we leave you with.

In Peace and Friendship,

Hohahes Leroy Hill

Helpful Water Hints

(TO HELP MAINTAIN POTABLE WATER)

FAQ: Bacteria such as e.coli and total coliform can grow inside your screened taps. To prevent bacteria growth, soak your aerators in javex and remove all debris from the inside of the screen.

FAQ: Water storage tanks/cisterns can become contaminated. You should have your water tested to ensure its safety. Instructions can be provided to help you clean your tanks/cisterns if required.

FAQ: Used or soiled dish clothes can contain bacteria. You should never wrap a used dish cloth around your tap or have it near the aerator. This can cause the bacteria to spread into your tap.

FAQ: Animals that have access to drink the water directly from the taps can also cause bacteria growth in a faucet. Never allow an animal to drink directly from taps or sinks.

FAQ: If you are reusing drinking water containers, disinfection is essential. Bacteria could potentially build up if containers are not cleaned frequently with pure javex.

FAQ: Water coolers should also be cleaned with javex at least twice a year to prevent bacteria growth. Instructions can be mailed to you if requested.

Message from Tyendinaga Police Services

Attention Community Residents:

With every fall comes hunting season in our community. We ask hunters to be cautious and safe this hunting season and also to be respectful and mindful of property and homes within the community. Always be sure of your target and the power of your firearm before pulling the trigger. Night hunting will not be tolerated due to the number of houses and close proximity of hunting areas. Persons caught night hunting may face the risk losing their firearms and may be subject to criminal charges as safety must be paramount to any hunting practices.

Meetings are ongoing with respect to the deer cull in Presqu'île Provincial Park in Brighton. The five-year cull agreement has now expired. We will keep the community posted of any developments in the coming months.

During the month of September and early October, the Tyendinaga Police conducted a marijuana eradication program under which approximately $90,000 (street value) of marijuana was removed from our community.

Tyendinaga Police will be initiating an ATV enforcement initiative this season and we ask that ATV riders wear the necessary protective gear and be respectful to others on the trails. Riding on the shoulder of Tyendinaga roads is acceptable provided that ATV riders are wearing helmets and have proper documentation. However, riding an ATV down the middle of highways and roadways is unacceptable. ATV riders are asked to be respectful of people's property. ATV riders are also asked to be mindful when riding near residential areas at night as residents may be sleeping.

As Halloween is fast approaching we ask motorists to watch out for children on community roads who are out trick or treating. Let's have a safe and happy Halloween!

TRUSTEE REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER 2007

As reported in the June 2007 newsletter, the Ontario Ministry of Education is advocating for an Aboriginal Self Identification Policy for all Provincial School Boards in Ontario. On September 19th, Band Council, on the recommendation of Tyendinaga Education Committee, passed a resolution to proceed along with HPEDSB to work in partnership to develop the process by which this will be completed. Band Council is expected to take the lead role in developing and caring out this process. Funding for the Aboriginal Self Identification process will come from the Ontario Ministry of Education. With this process just getting underway, I will continue to report updates in the newsletter as available.

At the Ontario Public School Boards Association level, our Aboriginal Director Grace Fox is calling for any issues from First Nations Trustees that could be brought to the table for discussion at that level. I am happy to report that things are going well at Tyendinaga with the Band Council and the HPEDSB working close together to deal with issues as they develop.

Remember, if you have any questions or concerns please call me at (613)962-3595 or email at mbrant@hpedsb.on.ca.

Respectfully submitted

TVO Fall 2007: empowering people to be engaged citizens

This season TVO is all about presenting unique opportunities for people to learn about, and think about, the major issues that inform today's headlines. It's all part of our commitment to helping Ontarians better understand the different viewpoints and perspectives that are essential to becoming engaged citizens in our own province, and in the world at large.

The Agenda with Steve Paikin: "Election Central"

With Ontario voters going to the polls in October – where they will be asked to not only choose who will represent them, but also decide how they will be represented through an historical referendum – The Agenda with Steve Paikin kicked off its new season in full election mode. In addition to discussing and debating the major campaign issues from every aspect, The Agenda is also launching a number of innovative features to better engage the voting public: exclusive regional reports focused on key election issues, the citizen bloggers of Campaign Tales, and The Agenda's must-read Election Battle Blog, which features the thoughts and arguments of some very bright – and very partisan – political bloggers.

2007 Leader's Debate

A consortium of Ontario broadcasters (including TVO, CBC Television, CTV Television, Global Television, CITY-TV (CP24) and CPAC) will be airing live a 90-minute televised debate featuring the leaders of the province's three main political parties, 6:30pm, Thursday September 20.

The debate will be moderated by TVO's Steve Paikin, and will be streamed live online through the websites of most of the participating broadcasters. TVO will follow its broadcast with a special edition of The Agenda with Steve Paikin, and both the debate and The Agenda will be rebroadcast beginning at 10pm.

TVO Talent

Two recent developments that have created a great deal of excitement around our organization are Steve Paikin's Gemini Award nomination for "Best Host or Interviewer in a News Information Program or Series", and a special one-hour Allan Gregg in Conversation featuring an exclusive-to-TVO discussion with former US president Jimmy Carter and his wife Rosalynn, recorded during their visit to the Toronto International Film Festival – this is "don't miss" viewing, Friday September 21 @ 10pm. It's people like Steve Paikin and Allan Gregg, along with their dedicated production teams, who continue to make us a unique, respected voice in current affairs programming.

A new season begins for Kids...

All day, every day, TVOKids fills the daytime hours with learning opportunities aimed at helping Ontario's kids be at their best - in school and in life. In Gisèle's Big Backyard, TVOKids' early-learning block, Melvin the skunk has arrived to teach youngsters that bullying stinks, while new neighbour Nonna Fortuna gets kids curious about the world around them.

TVOKids after-school block, The Space, has a new look, a dynamic new host (Ryan Field) and a new web site with more than 150 interactive games and activities that are fun, creative, and that will keep young minds engaged. Click here for a preview of the Fall 2007 TVOKids season.

...and for Parents, too!

After a ground-breaking first year, TVO's one-of-a-kind live and interactive online program for parents, Your Voice, is poised to become one of Ontario's most indispensable resources for understanding today's key education issues. Tuesdays at 1pm host, journalist and mom Cheryl Jackson welcomes the best education and child development experts to answer – in real time – questions from parents of early learners and school-age children: questions like "do children with high 'emotional intelligence' do better in school?" and "how do Ontario's report cards measure up against others?". Your Voice can be found by visiting our tvoparents.com online resource centre, where those who are new to Ontario (and to Canada) will also find the multi-media Newcomers Guide to Elementary School in Ontario, now available in 19 languages!

New platforms, and new ways to engage Ontarians

The seamless integration of children's educational programming and web content is a defining feature of TVOKids. Now, with the Canadian premiere of the three-part documentary Diamond Road, we're thrilled to offer an immersive online "experience" to the prime-time viewers of this engrossing exploration of the global diamond trade. Produced in association with TVO, Diamond Road Online will combine smart software and an interactive, world-wide community that allows users to assume the points of view of people in the documentary, watch web-exclusive video, and comment on each other's contributions. Visit tvo.org to experience Diamond Road Online beginning early in October, followed by the broadcast premiere of Diamond Road October 17.

Canadian Television Fund

All of these initiatives illustrate TVO's unique role in providing distinctive interactive educational content that informs, inspires and stimulates curiosity and thought. TVO relies upon the independent production community - much of whose work is made possible with the invaluable support of the Canadian Television Fund (CTF) - for unique Canadian programs and perspectives. Just a few examples of CTF/independent productions that are featured on TVO include the children's programs I Dare You, Miss BG and

Bulletin - the Sky is not falling

Sekon Sewakwekon:

Here we are in September once again running a full slate of scheduled programs, despite the fact that we did suffer a significant funding cut from the federal government. In a sign of our continuing advancement as an institution, this year we are involved in our first graduate level initiative with the Master's program in Public Administration (Queen's University). We have also signed an agreement with a significant socio-economic development initiative in Chile to assist in building human resource capacity in education in Indigenous communities. The PLA team continues to create international opportunities worldwide, from Nunavut to Ecuador to South Africa. The enrolment for the Bachelor of Social Work program virtually doubled this year. At sixty students this is one of the two most successful Aboriginal university programs in Ontario along with our very own First Nations Public Administration program. Work is continuing on a Masters of Social Work partnership for our graduates. A renewed Communications program is underway, and the Speaker Series will get back underway. Trent University made their first visit to the Mohawk Language Immersion program and were impressed by its high quality. Our program development relationships in Mnjikaning are being renewed through the Administrative Assistant program and the RPN program. The SSW program in Munsee is a major success in encouraging men to enter this very important field. A literacy initiative and night school initiative through Ohahase are exciting developments which can be utilized to assist in meeting student needs in some of our post-secondary programs. Other new initiatives will start in January, 2008.

At the recent Annual General Meeting, the By-Laws of FNTI were amended to increase the size of the Board of Directors to nine. We need to do some recruiting to fill the new positions and fill anticipated vacancies as terms are ending. There are plenty of men on the Board so this round of recruiting will focus on bringing the balance which is necessary. The By-Laws also create the ability for FNTI to have an Academic Council. The Academic Dean will work with Program Managers on a plan to implement this needed function over the coming months.

In addition, the AGM approved the development of a Charter for FNTI. Colleges and universities in Ontario are created by legislation and are essentially recognized to grant degrees, diplomas and certificates. We have proposed a Charter which will hopefully be adopted by the Mohawks of Bay of Quinte Council next week which will recognize our right to grant degrees, diplomas and certificates. By-laws have the same force and effect as federal law, if they are accepted by the federal government. Whatever the federal reaction, having a Charter strengthens our case for recognition in the province and internationally.

FNTI will be making an application to the World Indigenous Nations Higher Education Consortium (WINHEC) for institutional accreditation. Although many institutions around the world have sought program specific recognition, we will be the first to seek institutional recognition. It is an exciting development. After the initial application, a study group will visit FNTI over the next year to carry out an assessment process. We will make time during the week of October 8 to show the video presentation.

In the past few weeks we have received requests to deliver programs in a number of areas throughout Ontario. Our challenge is really about managing our potential for incremental growth.

Our federal funds have historically been composed of a number of different programs. Since 2004, many of those programs have been subject to changing spending authorities which do not apply to post-secondary education. As a consequence, FNTI has taken some blows to the bottom line. Our challenge is to secure consistent and predictable federal support. We have been in constant communication with federal staff to determine where we stand for next year. Federal budgets are typically set in September and finalized in October. FNTI will be receiving notice soon about their intentions for next year. It is a fact that there is a potential for cuts that would cause the institute to bleed, but rumors of our imminent demise have been greatly exaggerated.

I will inform you about our situation as soon as I know.

Our current year situation has required that we exercise significant restraint in our spending so I am asking for your continued cooperation. I commend those staff have been actively seeking additional resources to cover deficits in key program areas such as contracts to do external training, and the proposals submitted to federal and provincial funding agencies. Research is continuing into various foundations and other fundraising possibilities. Every little bit helps to offset our in-year challenges.

Between the newspaper articles, press releases and YouTube videos it is clear that FNTI has taken issue with the provincial government. This year our provincial funding was determined by a formula where each of our programs received a notional allocation equivalent to that typically received by colleges and universities. An overall cap was then placed on the funding and our level was reduced significantly to approximately one-fifth of the amount normally provided to another college or university.

The province cannot provide any justification for this arbitrary action which creates inequity. It becomes even more ridiculous when the provincial government knows full well that many of our programs, particularly in the university sector, require us to pay significant accreditation fees which in most case far exceed the funding provided to us. Regardless of what happens on the federal side, we require a fair and equitable operating environment on the provincial side for our long term growth.

There is significant restructuring occurring on how the province will deal with First Nations controlled institutions. The new person in charge has a track record of moving the Ministry of Education bureaucracy to adopt the very positive First Nations, Metis and Inuit Education Policy Framework so this provides renewed prospects for positive change. With the provincial election, the need to educate a new Minister, and Christmas holidays approaching, there will likely be little to report on from the provincial side until the new year.

We will continue to utilize all means at our disposal to seek just and equitable treatment. Our students are every bit as important as students at any other college or university. We have an amazing collective strength which I believe arises from the many great successes that this remarkable institution continues to achieve, and the dedication and vision of the staff, faculty and board members who are associated with FNTI.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask me.

August 30, 2007

Honourable Chris Bentley, Minister
Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities
900 Bay Street, Mowat Block, Queen's Park
Toronto, Ontario
M7A 1L2

Watkonnonweraton/Greetings Minister Bentley:

I am pleased that you made time to meet with FNTI on August 22, 2007 to discuss several issues which have been raised in correspondence over the past six months.

FNTI has been adversely affected by the AETS allocation formula which values our students at approximately one-fifth the value of a student attending another college or university in Ontario. I advised that this situation requires immediate change because it jeopardizes the future of some of our most successful degree, diploma and certificate programs.

I was perplexed that you took the position that issues pertaining to First Nations post-secondary institutions fall under federal jurisdiction while at the same time MTCU has issued a requirement that the institutes abide by provincial post-secondary legislation. The fact is FNTI delivers Ministry approved programs, and many are delivered in off-reserve locations as well as on-reserve. I was disappointed that you noted that it is not your responsibility to address jurisdictional issues. This is not very helpful and serves to inhibit dialogue and problem-solving.

There are issues that MTCU can address. For example, MTCU can address the longstanding issue of exploitative accreditation agreements. They are inefficient because they drive up the total costs of programs delivered by First Nations controlled institutions and undermine our ability to build our own capacity. If the MTCU Minister fails to give direction to MTCU staff to find ways to address this situation, how will we change the status quo?

Another option is that the spending power utilized through AETS over the past sixteen years can be strengthened in ways to address the inequity which exists. This would be entirely consistent with the principles of the Reaching Higher plan. The current formula has a positive basis in benchmarking allocations to college and university operating grants. However the introduction of a cap on the total program is effectively a First Nations Adjustment Factor which states that FNTI should get less because it is First Nations controlled institution.

You used the metaphor of a mountain to note that FNTI wants to be at the top of the mountain before making the actual journey. FNTI has been journeying on that mountain for twenty-two years. We are asking you to remove the barriers which have been placed in our path. Equity is not a matter of jurisdiction, only political will. MTCU staff cannot change the total allocation. If the MTCU Minister fails to advocate for the principle of equity, how will we change the status quo?

If it is not your responsibility to clarify the jurisdictional issue with the federal government, at the very least it is possible to engage with your own colleagues such as the Minister of Aboriginal Affairs and the Minister of Intergovernmental Affairs to seek clarity on the jurisdictional issue. MTCU staff cannot address jurisdictional issues. If the MTCU Minister or Ministerial colleagues do not take steps to clarify the jurisdictional issue with the federal government, how will we change the status quo?

If you were in our position, what would you now do to seek positive action on the matters of equity, fairness and justice?

FNTI has a tremendous history of success, and remains committed to fulfilling its mission to create high quality, culturally relevant educational opportunities for Aboriginal peoples. We will continue to seek out those who share our vision and are willing to work towards addressing the significant needs which exist. I hope that sometime soon you or your successors will choose to walk side by side with us up that mountain.

Etho Niowennake/Sincerely,

Karihwakeron Tim Thompson

Children's Oral Health Initiative

Please be advised that, Kate Brant, your COHI Aid, and Dental Staff from the Health Unit will be visiting the Quinte Mohawk School, Daycare and Tahatikonhsotonti Head Start throughout the school year 2007/2008. If you have already signed the permission form for you're your child, we will be resuming our follow-up treatments of fluoride varnish and sealants. For any new students who have just signed up, they will be screened and given their first fluoride varnish.

If you recall this initiative is for children ages new born to 7 years so if you have younger children at home or in private daycare, you can call or drop by the Health Centre to pick up a permission form. You can also call for a home visit and we will be happy to accommodate you to receive this service. (Children's Oral Health Initiative)

The following grades are eligible for follow-up care:

All students ages new born to 7 years of age.

The screening is conducted by a Registered Dental Hygienist following strict, approved infection control standards. A different sterilized instrument is used for each child.

The results from your child's dental assessment are sent home from school with your child.

This service is provided free of charge however, it is not intended to replace our child's regular visit to the dentist, but rather to add more preventative care to lessen tooth decay in our children.

Thank you so much for being a part of this initiative. If you have any further questions please call me at the Health Centre.

Kate Brant, Community COHI Aide, 613 967-3603.

BREASTFEEDING CIRCLE

The Remarkable First Hour of Life

"When healthy infants are placed skin-to-skin on their mother's abdomen and chest immediately after birth, they exhibit remarkable capabilities. They are alert. They can crawl, stimulated by mother's gentle touch, across her abdomen, reaching her breast. They begin to touch and massage the breast. This first gentle touch of a baby's hand or head at the breast stimulates release of maternal oxytocin, thus beginning both the flow of milk and enhancing the mother's feelings of love for the baby. Then the baby smells, mouths, and licks the mother's nipple. Finally, he or she reaches forward with their tongue, attaches to the breast and feeds. This sequence of events is important for the survival of human young. For the first time, researchers have assessed the effect of the timing of the first breastfeed on newborn mortality (death) - showing that mortality can be less if infants start to breastfeed in the first hour after birth."

- Dr. Arun Gupta MD, WABA

Why is skin-to-skin contact after birth, and breastfeeding within the first hour of life, so important?

1. The mother's body helps to keep the baby warm, especially important for small and low birth weight babies.
2. The baby is less stressed, calmer, and has steadier breathing and heart rates.
3. The baby is exposed first to bacteria from the mother which are mostly harmless, or against which the mother's milk contains protective factors. The mother's bacteria colonise the baby's gut and skin and compete with more harmful bacteria from health providers and the environment, preventing them from causing infection.
4. The baby receives colostrum - liquid gold, sometimes called the gift of life. Colostrum is rich in living antibodies, Vitamin A, protective proteins, and growth factors which protect against many infections, and help protect the eyes. It's laxative action helps to prevent or reduce jaundice by clearing meconium quickly from the gut.
5. Touching, mouthing, and suckling at the breast stimulates oxytocin release. Oxytocin causes the uterus to contract, preventing serious hemorrhage in the mother, helps with delivery of the placenta, stimulates flow of milk, gives pain relief for the baby, and helps a mother "fall in love" with her newborn.

Dangers of Expired Medications

- Medications expire just the same as food does.
- Expired medications become weak and ineffective, therefore, taking them may not cure the problem as intended.
- It's a good idea to highlight the expiration date of all medications before you store them to ensure the date is not missed.
- Here are some safe ways for disposing of these unneeded medications:
  - Check to see if the pharmacy or other health related industries have a drug recycling program that disposes of unused or expired drugs.
  - At least once a year go through your medications and remove expired or unused medications that you are no longer taking.
  - If you are unsure or have any questions about your medication check with your local pharmacist, who can now provide consultation services through OHIP.

DO NOT dispose of your unused or expired medications in the garbage or sewer/septic system. Evidence has shown that medications do end up in our water system, and in our body systems through drinking and cooking water.

Tyendinaga will have a Drug Recycling Program Oct 29-Nov 2/07 located at:

- Improves your blood circulation

OVERCOMING THE BARRIERS TO FITNESS.

Sticking to a regular exercise schedule isn't easy! TRY TO KEEP ON TRACK.

BARRIER: I don't have enough time to exercise

- Squeeze in a few 10-minute walks throughout the day
- Get up earlier. If your days are packed and the evening is hectic, get up 30 minutes earlier twice a week to exercise.
- Claim the back row of the parking lot as your own. Or park a few blocks away and walk to your destination.
- Rethink your Saturday rituals Get Moving, bike ride, rock climbing, or a trip to the pool

BARRIER: Exercise is boring.

- Think of it as an activity. If you choose activities you enjoy, you are likely to stick with it. Remember anything that gets you moving counts.
- Vary your routine. Rotate among several activities—walking, swimming, and horseshoes. You are conditioning different muscles.
- Join forces with friends relatives, neighbours, and co-workers. This will offer encouragement to one another when the going gets tough.
- Check out exercise classes, sport/recreation centre or the Y.M.C.A.

BARRIER: I'm too tired to exercise after working all day.

- Try a morning exercise
- Make lunchtime count
- Be prepared. Have your workout clothes out, a bottle of water in the fridge, and an exercise video ready to go when you get home.
- Hit the hay early. Go to bed early to get plenty of sleep.

BARRIER: I'm too lazy to exercise.

- Set realistic goals. Start with a walk around the block.
- Work with your nature. Plan activity when you feel energetic.
- Schedule exercise as you would schedule an appointment.

BARRIER: My family and friends don't support my efforts to exercise regularly

- Get your kicks with your kids. Go to the park, walk or go to the pool Don't watch them get in the pool and join in the fun.
- Propose a new adventure
- If your family doesn't share your enthusiasm at least they can respect you in caring for your health.

Angel Tree Program 2007

With cold weather fast approaching, and Christmas coming sooner than we think, the Angel Tree Committee is preparing for the kick off of this year's Angel Tree Program.

The Angel Tree will again be located in the reception area of the main level of the Thayendanege Health Centre.

Angels will be available beginning
November 1, 2007.

We ask that all unwrapped gifts with the angel's identifying code be attached and returned to the Health Centre no later than December 9, 2007.

The Angel Tree Program exists on fundraising and donations alone, and it has only been with the support of our caring community that the Angel Tree Program has been such a success year after year.

Last year the Angel Tree Program serviced 32 families, which included 61 children. Please open your hearts again to make this winter a warm one for the angels.

For more information, please contact the
Thayendanege Health Centre at 967-3603.

Angel Tree Program

The time is coming to start planning for the Christmas Season! We would like to get an early jump on the Angel Tree Program.

Purpose: To assist families who are less fortunate, during the Christmas season. Services will be provided to community members who have children 16 years old and under, residing on the Territory.

Referrals will be taken as of October 1, 2007

Previous month's income statement and or current proof of income must be submitted with application form

This year's deadline for applications is December 3, 2007 please apply early.

If your child has received a snowsuit and boots last year, they will not be eligible for these same items again this year but will be eligible for warm clothing.

If you plan on accessing the Angel Tree Program this year, please contact Lesley Maracle at the
Thayendanege Health Centre at (613)967-3603

Discipline Suggestions for Parents

- 1. Establish a few clear and consistent methods of discipline when rules are broken.
- 2. Don't change the rules, even if they don't seem to work very well at first. Be consistent, and try again.
- 3. Be simple and direct in talking to your child. Do not question him at length, and avoid long, involved explanations.
- 4. Parents must present a consistent response to behavior. Good behavior is rewarded by a compliment. Poor behavior is followed by a consequence.
- 5. The child must realize that she is responsible for her own behavior, good or bad.
- 6. Keep the home as calm and quiet as possible. Avoid emotional outbursts in front of your child. Be firm, but calm when disciplining.
- 7. Make shared activities active. Don't expect him to sit still or pay attention for a longer period of time than what is reasonable for his age.
- 8. Get other children in the family to co-operate with you. Avoid teasing, arguing, fighting, etc., with or in front of the children.
- 9. Homework should be done in short, quiet work periods, with breaks in between. Set a time limit before she starts, and tell her when the period is over. If she can tell time, encourage her to set and monitor her own time schedules.
- 10. Don't worry about day-to-day fluctuations in control. They are not unusual, and they will gradually decrease as the child becomes more mature.

from: Parent Education

Creating Positive Self-Concepts

- 1. Give the child every opportunity to experience responsibility--it will help him to become a responsible citizen.
- 2. Every child needs an opportunity to contribute--she will learn to be a contributing member of society.
- 3. Give the child freedom of expression of his ideas and opinions--it will give him a sense of importance and worth.
- 4. Help her to become a co-operative member through sharing activities--she will gain a sense of self-enhancement and personal worth for her contributions to the group.
- 5. Help him to appreciate the attitudes, achievements and ambitions of others.
- 6. Give ample opportunity for success--success builds upon itself. It will help her to build upon productive achievement.
- 7. Help the child to discover his talents and areas of strength and to understand his weaknesses and inadequacies--he will learn how to deal successfully with them.
- 8. Challenge without threat stimulates and encourages exploration.
- 9. Negate feelings of fear, for they only lead to failure.
- 10. Provide opportunities for the child to learn to like herself--it will give her a sense of dignity.
- 11. Listen to the child's message no matter how trivial it may seem--it is a prime technique for showing the child that he is worthy, and it builds confidence in the self.
- 12. Don't be afraid to show the child that you care--tender love and care will never hurt a healthy relationship--it will be reciprocated throughout the child's life.

COMMUNITY INTEREST

Support Our Community Youth!

Tyendinaga's own Brandon Barberstock has been selected as a candidate for a contest hosted by Bootlegger, the clothing chain which has a store in the Quinte Mall. The contest winner will receive a $10,000 scholarship.

Brandon is among one of 63 candidates competing for the scholarship. The winner will be decided by an online vote. But first supporters must pick up a ballot containing a voting code number from the Bootlegger outlet in the Quinte Mall then they can vote online at www.bootlegger.com.

The deadline for voting is October 11.

For more information visit Bootlegger's website.

I was recommended to consider taking part in a contest to represent the Bootlegger store at the Quinte Mall. As a result I was picked as one of the finalist's, to represent this store in a photo shoot for the fall fashion. Chosen was a few other talented Canadians to represent local stores in their area. The reason behind this photo shoot is that all finalists are voted upon thus the person with the most votes wins $10,000 and the opportunity to represent Bootlegger.

By voting for me you could be the lucky winner of a $500 shopping spree in the Bootlegger store of your choice. In the near future i will be receiving pictures of the shoot, post cards and coupons to be given out by myself at the store in my area!

If you have any further questions about the contest, please don't hesitate to message me and I'll do my best to answer them!

Then they will be posted at the store at the Quinte Mall in Belleville to be voted on. The date on which this starts is September 13th - October 11th.

If you are wondering how can i vote it's easy first, head to any Bootlegger store across Canada to pick up a ballot, which will have a unique voting code on it. Then visit www.Bootlegger.com/genB, choose your candidate, and place your vote (with the identifying code).

So start voting for me!

POSTCARDS FROM THE VISION QUEST

by Joseph Brant

A fair to remember

It's been a busy couple months. First let me take the time now to apologize to all the people I've seen this last while who've I've not immediately recognized. You know who you are: I looked you dead in the eye, turned away, and – not one second later – when I remembered who you are, I turned back (BIG smile this time), but you'd turned away, likely cussing me under your breath. Or not under your breath.

It's happened a lot and, what's more embarrassing, it's happened more than a couple times with the same people. I wrote to a friend back in Nashville that it seems I can get away with it better there, because we're all not related in some way. As much as anyone, I hate offending family, or friends of family, or family of friends.

I'm finding it hard to wave when I'm on the road. I don't immediately recognize everyone's vehicle so – and this is embarrassing – I find myself sometimes staring into the car or truck as we cross paths on the highway and, nine times out of ten, we don't know each other but, by then, I've committed so, sheepishly, I wave back to a stranger.

There's a corollary. I get sick of staring down strangers and, again – not one second after we pass – I realize who you are. The best I can do then is wave outside the window, back at you. Watch for it.

This expecting to know everybody stuff is hard. Makes me miss being a kid, when I sat in the back seat, and being social on the roads was my parent's responsibility.

Another thing: if it looks like I'm talking to myself, I'm probably singing along with the radio. Or I'm talking to myself.

So it's been a couple months since I've submitted anything to the newsletter. As you read this I'll have been home four months, and the time really hasn't gone fast. Used to be, I'd follow my routine of going to work and back and, when I'd look up every now and then, I'd find a few months had passed. Not so, here.

I enjoyed the pow wow this year. One thing that surprises me – I've been there the past few years – is the number of folks from right here in Tyendinaga who don't go. Not that there aren't a lot of us there. It just seems I routinely expect to see many more of us there, and you don't show up. I see a lot of Native people I know are not from here, and a lot of non-Native people which, again, seems a bit of a surprise.

Compare that to the Mohawk Fair. Yes, there were a lot of non-Native people there, too, but aside from them, it seemed very insular to me. Very Tyendinaga-centric and I just found that funny.

I'd not been to the fair in ten years, so it came as a huge surprise the number of people I'd not seen nor recognized from anywhere other than the fair – and specifically the beer tent during the demolition derby – than who all I saw last month.

I just kept saying that to everyone. "There are so many people here who I don't know, but who I recognize, and only from right here ... Friday night in the beer tent at the Mohawk Fair."

An old friend looked at me like I was stupid. "This is like a homecoming for us," she said. "Everybody comes home for the fair." Perhaps that explains it: the pow wow isn't on our radar yet? (I could get shot for saying this, but) maybe we should consider opening a beer tent at the pow wow?

I realize pow wows are anti-beer tent, yes. It's strange that I offer that idea anyway because I've never been much of a drinker. Some ideas, I suppose, make sense when they really shouldn't.

(Secret message to "James Bond": I promised to say hi, right?)

... the things you promise when you're three sheets in.

Honestly, though, the big epiphany that came that weekend was that, in a sense, I left Tyendinaga all those years ago because it seemed as though the Mohawk Fair only amounted to an excuse to open a beer tent. It wasn't the way I wanted to live my adulthood.

To be blunt: it wasn't anything I wanted to identify myself with. That's not quite what I want to say. How about this: I needed to leave because that – Friday night under the beer tent at the Mohawk Fair – seemed an inevitability for me, and for everyone else I knew. I didn't want that.

It took twelve years away, twelve years of growing, living, defining myself, before I could come back here and – as with all that I wanted to leave behind – find a way to reconcile a life lived here with my understanding of who I am.

When I was young, I used to look out beyond that field across the road from my mom's house where I grew up and I knew there was something out there for me, out there where the field touched the sky, out there where it seemed I had little to no access to get there from here.

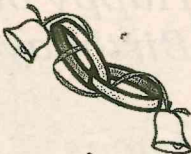

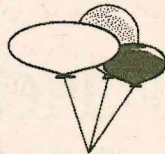

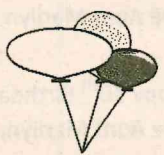

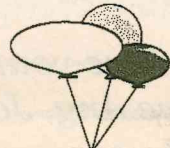

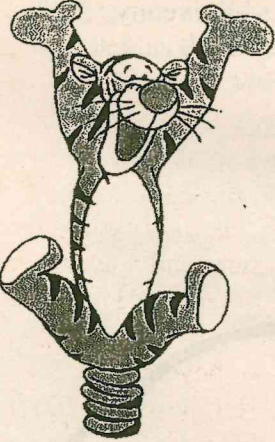

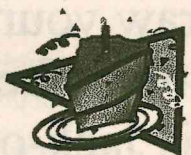

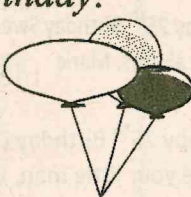

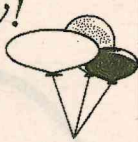

What I learned is that everything changes after you've spent a while out there. The longer you're there, it becomes more and more like here. I suppose that's because it doesn't matter where I go; I'll still bring every part of myself with me. And as we grow and move through this world, it's our perspective that changes more than anything.

OCTOBER

Another group of people who have chosen to work with our children are the people who work in Youth Ministries. Their challenge is to work with our youth to keep them from going along with the ills of our society. We all know there are many negative influences that can impact on our children. Drugs, alcohol and gangs name a few. The job of the people who work in the youth ministry is to challenge our children to seek positive activities and avoid peer pressure. They also bring the word of Christ to youth during a very difficult time in their lives.....adolescence. Please pray for their success this month.

ORISKANY ALLIANCE FIRST FUNDRAISER

First of all a brief history of Oriskany Alliance. This was a battlefield which was part of the American Revolution and took place 230 years ago this year. This battlefield is near Rome, N. Y. and in the upper tier of Mohawk Valley, where our ancestors of Tyendinaga were originally from. There were a number of Mohawks including a son of Molly (Brant) Johnson that perished, and those who survived came to take new residence at what is now Tyendinaga. On August 6, 1884 a monument was erected on this battle site by the American Government. The Oriskany Alliance started having Commemorative Gatherings in 2000 on the date this battle began and ended, which was August 6th. On this date this year, Mohawk were first represented on this site by Mr. James Maracle, from Tyendinaga, and since has joined the Alliance.

Now The Oriskany Alliance is having their first fund raising Dinner and Dance at Pulaski Legion on November 3, 2007. The cost is $17.00 each with a choice of ham or roast chicken. This committee a non profit organization is raising funds and planning a Pow Wow on or near the Oriskany Battlefield to take place August 2008. Those interested may purchase tickets from James Maracle at 613-969-7871, but we need verification by October 20th. to let the American Legion know how many we have for the meal.
