MUSEUM AND CULTURAL CENTRE

There was a plebiscite held at the Mohawk Community Centre on August 23, 2003 between the hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. to determine if the community was in favour of building a Cultural Centre, Library and Fitness Centre utilizing between $2.2 million and $3.0 million of the Casino Rama allocation. The results are as follows:

YES - 72

NO - 47

Total ballots cast were 119. Council will be reviewing the results on September 3, 2003.

Superbuild agreed to provide 40% up to a maximum of 2 million dollars. The project must be completed and invoices submitted to Superbuild by March 31, 2006. Any project that is adjusted by 20% will have to be re-submitted and re-nominated for funding approval. Superbuild is waiting to hear from Council on the scope and costs of this project.

UNION GAS - YORK ROAD QUOTE

Council requested a quotation from Union Gas to extend the natural gas line from Highway #49 to Quinte Mohawk School on a cost-sharing basis.

Council has received a letter dated August 26, 2003 where Union Gas indicates that the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte will be required to pay a sum of $ 200,000.00 for the extension of this utility. I am enclosing a copy of the letter for your perusal. Council will review the quote at the September 3, 2003 council meeting.

GENERAL MEETING

The Tyendinaga Mohawk Council will hold a General Council Meeting at the Mohawk Community Centre on Tuesday, October 7, 2003 at 7:00 p.m.

POLICE COMPLEMENT

The Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory is experiencing a severe shortage of Police Officers. On May 20, 2003 I sent a letter to Commissioner Gwen M. Boniface of the Ontario Provincial Commission to request a meeting with Council to review some serious concerns regarding policing complement.

On June 13, 2003 I met with Rick Stuivenberg, Special Advisor First Nations Policing to discuss our ongoing concerns about police complement levels in our community and to discuss short term and long term solutions to the issue.

Mr. Stuivenberg issued a letter dated July 23, 2003 offering two additional uniformed positions to the Tyendinaga Police Service until April 1, 2004 provided that Council agree to adjourn the Canada Industrial Labour Relations Board proceedings. These proceedings are to determine who the employer is of the Tyendinaga Police Service and the appropriate party for collective bargaining discussions. The two additional police officer positions could remain in our community beyond April 2004 provided that the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte choose to receive policing services from either the pending self-administered police service for the communities of the Association of Iroquois and Allied Indians (AIAI) or another existing self-administered First Nation Police Service such as the Akwesasne Mohawk Police Service. Any additional complement would be determined based on a thorough policing needs assessment.

On July 23, 2003 Council agreed to participate in the Needs Assessment with no obligation to participate in the proposed White Pine Regional Policing Service.

On August 6, 2003 the Tyendinga Mohawk Council rejected the conditions outlined in Mr. Stuivenberg's letter of July 23, 2003 to obtain two additional constables. Council wanted the employer status issue determined due to liability issues that might arise in the future from issues of lack of wage parity, benefits, retirement provisions and general working conditions for First Nations Police Officers. In addition, Council has not negotiated any arrangement with the Ontario Provincial Police or with the Minister of Public Safety and Security to become the employer of the Tyendinaga Police Service. However, Council did agree to participate in the Policing Needs Assessment exercise which will be conducted in mid September 2003.

CANADIAN FORCES COMMUNICATIONS AND ELECTRONICS BRANCH CENTENARY - KINGSTON

Mayor Isabel Turner of the City of Kingston invited me to attend a special ceremony on August 31, 2003 at Kingston City Hall in the presence of Princess Anne, The Princess Royal. Princess Anne is the Colonel in Chief of the Communications and Electronics Branch of the Canadian Armed Forces.

Mayor Turner granted Freedom of the City to the Communications and Electronics Branch as part of their centenary celebrations.

Princess Anne stressed the important role and work of the Electronic and Communication Branch in real times all the time. The Princess Royal discussed the work of this Branch, not only in war and peace times but also when power outages and natural disaster occurs.

Elder Lorraine Hill and I enjoyed a lengthy chat with Princess Anne and was amazed of her keen knowledge of Mohawk People.

Implementation date has been extended 6 months to March 1, 2004.

I would like to remind you that First Nation's access to the Non-Insured Health Benefits program is not effected by this extension and services should and will NOT be denied if clients have not provided consent prior to March 1, 2004.

However, until consensus has been reached regarding a consent form, if you or your colleagues require additional information, please contact the Non-Insured Health Benefits Consent Information Centre at 1-888-751-5011 or in Ottawa at (613) 946-4400 between the hours of 8:00am and 6:00pm.

Dear Todd,

There has been a long history since 1994 of our Company reviewing the possibility of providing natural gas to the residents and commercial enterprises on York Road, and especially to the Quinte Mohawk School.

Based on the most current information you have recently provided, we have re-run the economics based on numerous conservative scenarios, and the best case results of that research unfortunately indicate that a contribution in aid to construction of approximately two hundred thousand ($200,000.00) dollars plus applicable G.S.T. would be required in order to consider providing natural gas to this area. We have been most thorough in our analysis of the situation, and I cannot foresee any possibility of this rather large amount of money being reduced.

We will wait for the results of your consideration of this matter prior to proceeding with any future expenditure on this potential project.

We have always valued our association with the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte in the past, and would wish to continue fostering that very positive relationship into the future.

As always, please do not hesitate in contacting this office if we can be of assistance to you in future endeavours.

Chief Donald Maracle
Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte
R.R. #1 Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory
Ontario K0K 1X0

Dear Chief Maracle:

I was pleased to meet with you on June 13, 2003 to discuss your ongoing concerns about police complement levels in your community and to begin some preliminary discussion toward the short and long term resolution of this issue.

I have subsequently received your correspondence dated June 27, 2003 in which you state your position that the meeting noted above was without prejudice with respect to ongoing discussions regarding hearings at the Canadian Industrial Relations Board (CIRB) and the determination of employer status. As you will recall, I provided assurances that my meeting with you was not intended in anyway to prejudice these proceedings and I provide similar assurance that any future meeting including this correspondence is also without prejudice.

I would like to thank you again for helping me better understand the events that have led to the proceedings noted above. Unfortunately and typically, once litigation or formal proceedings begin, barriers both real and perceived discourage the healthy dialogue required to resolve what are often relatively simple problems. Equally unfortunate, is that sometimes perceived victories have unanticipated side effects.

While I unequivocally do not speak for the OPP or the Ontario Provincial Police Association, I am concerned that a CIRB decision identifying the OPP as a partial or full employer would by necessity see Ontario Police College certified, uniformed members of the Tyendinaga Police Service become part of the OPP general ranks and that OPP delivered service would fully replace the Tyendinaga Police Service. Further, Federal funding of OPP officers, not well received when broached in the past, would not likely be better received in this situation.

On a more positive note, I believe that the interim plan I proposed in June for enhanced complement can be achieved and that this plan can lead to a long-term solution. As you know from our previous meeting, I expressed an interest in seeing the employer issue currently before the CIRB either suspended or adjourned in favour of a cooperative effort to quickly resolve your complement concerns. Again, thanks to your input, I was able to determine that if the parties currently involved at the hearing agree, an adjournment will be granted.

It is my understanding that both the Canadian First Nations Police Association and the Ontario Provincial Police have formally agreed to adjourn proceedings and I optimistically await a similar willingness to adjourn the proceedings from you and your Council. Such an adjournment would allow the refocusing of limited resources towards complement rather than litigation.

Should the CIRB proceedings be adjourned, resources will become available to allocate two additional uniformed positions to the Tyendinaga Police Service until April 1, 2004.

These positions can remain in your community beyond April 1, 2004, on a permanent basis, provided the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte formally choose to receive policing services from either the pending self-administered police service for the communities of the Association of Iroquois and Allied Indians (AIAI) or another existing self-administered First Nation police service such as the Akwesasne Mohawk Police Service.

It is important to note that additional complement beyond the two positions noted above might be achievable through a needs assessment that must be conducted in order to participate in the AIAI process or alternatively can be arranged at your convenience through Inspector Glenn Trivett, Manager, First Nations Programs.

I look forward to meeting with you again in an effort to resolve this issue.

Rick Stuijvenberg
Special Advisor, First Nations

Commissioner Gwen M. Boniface
Ontario Provincial Police
777 Memorial Avenue
Orillia, Ontario

Dear Commissioner Boniface

This letter is written to respectfully request of you in the strongest terms to please meet with Tyendinaga Mohawk Council to review some serious concerns we are having with policing in the Territory

If I may provide some background

The primary issue for the past five years has been and still remains a lack of adequate police complement. The Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) First Nations Policing "Program" was never intended to be anything more than a base line starting point for First Nations Communities to negotiate their own self-administered police services. Chronic funding shortages are central to many of the problems we are experiencing. We anticipated the recent budget address allocating $42 million to First Nations Policing would help alleviate this, yet there is no appearance of such. Tyendinaga remains one of two Mohawk communities who do not have their own self-negotiated Police Service. Six Nations and Akwesasne have had self-administered agreements for ten plus years albeit with inadequate funding.

The current system seems to prevent the Ontario Provincial Police Commissioner from appointing officers to the Tyendinaga Police Service and developing beyond a "calls for service" front-line approach. When we identify specific manpower issues, the consistent response from the OPP, Federal and Provincial governments, is that the OPP supplements should have all the additional resources whenever needed. This, however, is not the case. Staffing levels at the Tyendinaga Police Service have gone beyond critical levels. OPP members will attend calls only if they are serious in nature and then only if a Tyendinaga Police officer is available as an escort. The situation is such that officers are not available to respond when called upon by the OPP.

The overtime budget approved by the First Nations Police Bureau allows call back to cover the 40% vacancy rate, however, officers cannot legally be compelled to work overtime, moreover, burnout and sick time are growing issues. This issue was explained in a detailed presentation to Council in March of 2002. Part of the presentation dealt with officer burnout and predicted that health issues result. The Tyendinaga Police Service has experienced over 90 shifts uncovered due to illnesses of its members since Sept 1, 2002. We are fast approaching the busier months of the year and we are very concerned.

The local detachment of the OPP has not been sympathetic to these concerns. Requests for information are going un-noticed, the OPP refrain from assisting us in any manner that could jeopardize their position on the employer status hearings. These hearings have been on going for at least four years and little progress has been made. In the meantime, officers are getting burned out and efforts at building trust in the community is deteriorating. The unfortunate part is, the hearings will not address the lack of proper human and financial resources critical to the operation of adequate policing services. The needs of the detachment continue to grow.

I am very discouraged at the lack of response at all levels. Tyendinaga is the sixth largest reserve in Canada with four police officers fit for duty. I look forward to discussing our concerns in person since the community is suffering, the officers are at undue risk and there is exposure to liability.

Sincerely,

R. Donald Maracle
Chief

TYENDINAGA MOHAWK COUNCIL MINUTES
AUGUST 6, 2003

A special meeting of the Tyendinaga Mohawk Council was held on August 6, 2003 at 11:00 a.m. in the Council Chambers.

Present: Chief R. Donald Maracle
Councillors: Christine Claus, Velma Hill-Dracup
Staff: Steve Mercer, Holly Brant
Sybil Foley, Program Supervisor, MCFCS

A special meeting was held by Council to discuss Mohawk Family Services/Children's Aid Society Memorandum of Understanding, Red Cedars, MFS/CAS Violence Against Women Protocol, and Per Diem Allowance issue at Red Cedars.

Chief Maracle informed Sybil Foley that Red Cedars is owed $6,934.00 and $9,590.50 or per diem allowance for shelter provided to non-Native women who reside off Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory. A total of $16,524.50 is owed by Ministry of Community Family and Children Services (MCFCS) to the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte for fiscal years 2001-2003. Sybil will discuss the issue with Greg Best, Manager, and Nelson Nelson RDG, MCFCS.

The Memorandum of Understanding between the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte and Hastings Children's Aid Society (HCAS) has been updated and sent to HCAS for review and comment.

There was a discussion on the Red Cedars/Mohawk Family Services/MCFCS Violence Against Women Initiative.

Chief Maracle informed Council that information from Tyendinaga Police Services on statistics on violence against women on Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory is as follows: 2002 - 12 incidents, 2003 - 10 incidents. The incidents relate to sexual assault, assault with a weapon, and threatening.

The training component for Aboriginal workers is not specific to on reserve Aboriginal people, and is not culturally appropriate. There is no funding for culturally appropriate training.

Sybil Foley has talked to Kevin Morris about MFS budgetary deficits. There are discussions going on with the Union of Ontario Indians regarding funding and for the Court Worker Program. Sybil said there is no new funding for MFS.

Due to the operational review information, MFS is well positioned to receive additional funding if the province provided additional funding. ### TRUSTEE'S REPORT August 2003

Easing out the door...

I have given notice to Chief and Council that later this year when I complete the four-year term I agreed to serve, I will not be standing for re-appointment as Trustee for Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte on the Hastings and Prince Edward District School Board. School board elections will be held along with municipal elections in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties this November and it seems appropriate that the changeover should take place when new members are receiving orientation to their duties in early December.

It has been an honour to serve as your representative and I thank Tyendinaga Mohawk Council (TMC) and the Tyendinaga Education Committee (TEC) for giving me the opportunity.

TMC will be setting in motion a process for naming a replacement, so think about what and who you want in this position.

The Trustee is responsible for attending public Board meetings and subcommittees where detailed reports are heard and recommendations are formulated. This involves at least two meetings per month and reading the briefing materials that are sent out in advance. (Briefing materials are not necessarily brief in length!) In addition the whole Board is involved in special planning meetings, budget meetings and meetings to approve bargaining positions when union contracts are being negotiated. There are also smaller subcommittees to hear appeals when students are suspended or expelled and to advise on special education services. Most meetings are held in the evening or late in the afternoon since a number of the Board members are employed in full-time jobs.

The Native trustee is a regular member of the Board, eligible to vote on all matters. I have taken the position that maintaining first rate services for all students in HPEDSB is good for Tyendinaga students as well, so I have tried to stay well-informed and give my best advice on matters that come up.

The HPEDSB Trustee reports to TMC through TEC. Some of the issues I have reported on are the implementation of the new curriculum, provincial testing, Native content in the curriculum, access of Quinte Mohawk School (QMS) staff to professional development activities through HPEDSB. When issues specific to QMS come up it is sometimes helpful to hear information about how things are done in HPEDSB so we don't re-invent the wheel in trying to solve problems.

Outside of formal meetings parents and occasionally students call to talk about problems with discipline or suspensions or lack of needed services. In these cases I don't replace the principal or superintendent's authority but I can help the parent and the Board person to understand each other. Mike Brant and Bill Maracle have told me that you eagerly look for my column every month: Thank you. I assume that there are others that I don't know who have also found these words interesting.

Ch yes. I almost forgot. Trustees receive a stipend as well as personal satisfaction for their efforts. The payment is set by the provincial government at $5000 per year, $416.67 per month.

I will continue to be your Trustee through November. I will also be happy to assist my replacement with information and advice as needed. If you think you would like the job, or if you know someone who would serve the people well, watch for notice that the replacement process is underway and put in an application or nomination. Education is not just the business of professionals. It is everyone's business!

Skennen kowa, Great Peace to you.

WHAT IS SEXUAL ASSAULT?

Sexual assault is defined as any form of sexual activity with another person, without that person's consent. It is a crime of violence affecting the lives of many individuals and families. During an assault, personal control and self-determination are usurped.

| 2. People who are sexually assaulted were "asking for it" because of the way they dress, they act, because they were out late, they were drinking, etc. | MYTH | FACT |
| 3. The victim does not have to scream or fight back for the behaviour to be a sexual assault.   | MYTH | FACT |

Check Your Answers

Sexual Assault Care Centre <http://www.sacc.ca>

Question 1 - Myth Victims don't usually lie about sexual assault. It is very hard for a person to tell someone that he or she has been sexually assaulted, especially if the offender is someone known and trusted. If someone tells you that he or she was sexually assaulted, you should believe them and find a way to help.

Question 2 - Myth The offender, not the victim, is always responsible for the sexual assault. Wearing a short skirt, acting a certain way, staying out late or drinking, is not "asking to be sexually assaulted." That would be like saying anyone who carries cash is "asking to be robbed!"

Question 3 - Fact There are many reasons why victims do not scream or fight their attacker. Many individuals who have been sexually assaulted are threatened by the offender. Others may become paralyzed with fear and are unable to fight back. There is also the fear that the attacker will cause more harm if you don't do what they tell you to do.

Question 4 - Myth Sexual assaults are committed every day by healthy, ordinary looking individuals. They do not look strange. The offender may even be someone that you know: a brother, a cousin, a date, a neighbour. Most offenders look and act like ordinary people and lead fairly typical, normal lives.

Question 5 - Fact Studies show that about 3 out of 4 sexual assaults are committed by someone known and often this person is trusted, like a babysitter, coach or friend. More than half of the assaults are committed in the home of the victim or the offender.

Question 6 - Myth Almost all sexual assaults are planned in advance. Sexual assault is more about control and power than sexual pleasure. Offenders are often married or have a sexual partner with whom they are able to satisfy their sexual urges.

Question 7 - Myth Research tells us that by age 18, 1 in 4 girls and 1 in 6 boys will have experienced some type of sexual assault. You probably know a person who has been sexually assaulted. Most victims that have been sexually assaulted have not told anyone, so the actual assaults that the police are told about are low.

Question 8 - Fact Almost as many boys as girls will be sexually assaulted by the age of 18. In 1984, a study in Canada found that 1 in 6 boys under the age of 18 had been sexually assaulted compared to 1 in 4 girls at the same age.

Advisory

Health Canada alerts Canadians not to use "black henna" temporary tattoo ink and paste containing PPD

OTTAWA • Health Canada is advising Canadians that the use of the ingredient para-phenylenediamine (PPD) in "black henna" temporary tattoo ink and paste is unsafe. Allergic reactions to PPD include red skin rashes, contact dermatitis, itching, blisters, open sores, scarring and other potentially harmful effects. Allergic reactions to PPD may also lead to sensitivity to other products such as hair dye, sun block and some types of black clothing.

PPD is an acceptable ingredient in hair dyes that, when used correctly, do not come into contact with skin for prolonged periods of time. The use of PPD in cosmetics applied to the skin for prolonged periods of time poses a risk to the health and safety of the user. As such, "black henna" temporary tattoo ink and paste containing PPD is not considered safe.

Under Section 16 of the Food and Drugs Act, no person shall sell cosmetics that contain substances that may cause injury to the health of the user when the cosmetic is used according to the directions on the label or accompanying the cosmetic. Cosmetics containing PPD that are applied directly to the skin are not to be sold in Canada. This includes "black henna" temporary tattoos containing PPD, which are often sold and applied by artisans at markets, fairs and amusement parks.

Before receiving a temporary tattoo, ask the vendor to confirm that PPD is not being used in the ink or paste. Health Canada permits the use of natural henna and other safe dyes in cosmetics.

Here are some things to look for if you suspect that PPD is being used in "black henna" tattoo ink or paste:

- PPD in "black henna" is used for its long-lasting properties and intense black colour. If the formula and resulting tattoo are jet black, the ink or paste may contain PPD;
- If the tattoo is to be removed within an hour, the ink or paste may contain PPD;
- PPD stains typically last one to three weeks, without fading; and,
- PPD-black henna mixes usually have very little or no scent.

Please contact your nearest Health Canada Product Safety Office if you suspect that PPD is being used by a local vendor.

BREAST HEALTH GUIDELINES

#271103

The following information has been developed by the Breast Health Awareness Task Force of the Ontario Division Education Committee. It provides a working definition of the term "Breast Health" and illustrates how it applies to women over the age of 20.

NB. Women should consult their doctor about an ongoing personal plan for breast health. Increasing age is considered to be the greatest risk factor for breast cancer. Risk is also understood to include women who have had breast cancer and/or a strong family history of breast cancer.

Definition of Breast Health

Breast Health is taking personal responsibility for awareness and actions throughout the life span that can lead to the early detection and treatment of abnormalities that may develop in the breast.

Age 50+

Women aged 50 and over should participate in an early detection programme for breast cancer which consists of mammography, annual physical examination of the breasts by a health professional, and the teaching and monitoring of breast self-examination. Mammography should be carried out every two years through dedicated screening centres.

Ages 40 - 49

Women aged 40 - 49 should participate in an early detection programme for breast cancer consisting of an annual physical examination of the breasts by a health professional, and the teaching and monitoring of breast self-examination every year.

It is accepted that there is no conclusive evidence that any screening procedure can reduce breast cancer deaths in women aged 40 - 49. However, it is recognized that there are many women in this age group who seek and obtain some form of screening. Women are encouraged to discuss screening with their family physician.

Ages 20 - 39

Women aged 20 - 39 should become familiar with their breast structure and learn to recognize both normal changes and changes that may be symptomatic of breast disease. A yearly physical examination by a physician is advisable. In addition, women of this age group should become aware of the risk factors for breast cancer, and early detection methods appropriate for all age groups.

Mammography is not recommended for women under the age of 40 because of the low incidence of breast cancer and the high amount of benign versus malignant disease below the age of 40. In addition, mammograms are more difficult to interpret in younger women.

Terminology

1. Breast Health Awareness: Specifically, baseline familiarity with one's own breast structure and understanding of breast cancer including risk factors, and early detection methods. Also, understanding normal changes within the context of overall health and recognizing changes that may be symptoms of breast disease.
2. Clinical Breast Examination: A regular, (at intervals appropriate for age group,) standardized clinical examination of the breast by a trained health professional such as a physician or nurse practitioner.
3. Breast Self-Exam: A standard method for performing and teaching breast self-exam includes the following minimal requirements:
  - a) Visual examination looking particularly for asymmetry.
  - b) Palpation of the entire breast including the axillae.
  - c) Use of finger pads (the bottom surface of the finger from the top to the first joint) to palpate the breasts.
  - d) Application of sufficient pressure to assess deep tissues.
  - e) Palpation in a rotary fashion.
  - f) Monthly performance when breasts are not engorged (i.e., not during the week before menstruation, during menstruation or the few days after).
4. Mammogram: A low-dose x-ray of the breast performed to detect abnormalities of the breast. This examination should be carried out by appropriately trained personnel.

POSTCARDS FROM THE VISION QUEST

by Joseph Brant

Marriage. Independent Thought & the Salvation of Community

I'm writing this on Sunday afternoon. I've been busy the last few weekends so I told myself this one would be my own. I looked forward to it, in fact. The highlight of the weekend was scheduled more than a few days ago: I was going to use a coupon I received in the mail to get a cheap bacon, egg and cheese on toast sandwich at a local fast food place. Or two. And some hash browns. And orange juice.

It's not often I eat out for breakfast. That's mainly because it's already noon or after when I get up and get ready to go. And this was to be no Egg McMuffin or bacon egg and cheese croissant, both of which have become either too dry (McMuffin) or soggy and little (croissant). So I was excited.

I hopped in the car yesterday morning – unshowered and unbeautified – hoping the car wouldn't break down or provide any other reason for me to get out and show myself to the world. I got my grub, went home and wasted the next two and a half hours watching Minority Report, the Tom Cruise movie that, in the end, I really, really enjoyed. Then I got tired, so I showered, laid down in bed and pretended I was reading while I fell asleep.

The phone rang a couple hours later. It being too late in the day for a telemarketer or bill collector, I gave it a whirl. My friend, Jerry, wanted to know if I'd like to get a drink later. I said yeah, and laid back down when I should have been getting ready.

So when I arrived at the bar – late, of course – I figured he'd be waiting. Unfortunately, he was late too. There was a time when, on the rare occurrence that I'd be early, I'd get all mad because whomever just couldn't be on time. Then one day I added up all of my past month's worth of "just fifteen minutes late"-s and forgave everybody. Instantly.

We'd agreed over the phone that we'd have dinner first, so I walked around the bar to the dining room only to find it had been rented out for a private party. Instantly pissy, I went back to the bar. I'm not sure but I think I stole a chair from the girl next to me while I ordered a Long Island iced tea from the bartender.

He either made the drink really bad because all I tasted was flat Coke, or he made it really well because, at the very least, I was a little tipsy after that one. I was on the verge of ordering another, as well as acquiescing to the glances of an otherwise generic-looking feller across the bar (this is my story; I can't tell it however I want) when an acquaintance of mine, Jenn, comes out of nowhere and tells me that I have to join them in the dining room.

I was like, "What! That's YOU in there! What's going on?"

She said that friends of hers, only more acquaintances of mine, "had their ceremony today."

"That's just great," I said, trying to figure out what kind of ceremony two lesbians could possibly have. As with you, I'm sure, I found that just asking the question provides the answer.

Hurriedly, we went into the dining room of this bar where they were just ending the reception. With all the hoopla that surrounds gay marriage, I've never been to one – a non-government sanctioned commitment ceremony, I mean – so I'd no idea what to expect. Needless to say, it instantly became the highlight of my weekend. Stupidly (because the drink must have been that good), it's almost exactly what I said to one of the brides.

"I'm so happy for you!" I said. "But I'll tell you what. When I found out there was a private party in here, I just hated whoever it was. Jerry, Brent and I were supposed to eat here tonight."

"It's okay, though," I continued. "You guys had no way of knowing your 'life change' would affect our Saturday night negatively."

They got the joke, I think They at least understood it wasn't the same old sober Joe – we're supposed to say stoic, actually – the same old stoic Joe they've come to know. Everyone figured it out a few hours and at least two Long Island teas later when for the fourth time, I said, "I think its time for us to party like it's 1999!"

Tell me tell you this much: crashing a gay wedding is no different than crashing a Straight one. Everyone is half in the bag – fully three sheets to the wind – and unbelievably delighted to see you.

There was no wedding dress and no manly girl in a tuxedo. They married in a church. I should say, they were blessed by a minister in a church. I think what they legally have is... well, nothing really. And yet they've gained a whole lot. Marriage is not available to them in America, so they did everything anyone else does when they get married except have it recognized by the government.

Jerry and Brent arrived and we ate leftover salmon and chicken. Far more than one serving for me, so I really did win out in the end. We laughed and talked and gossiped and ... oh, I almost forgot something.

People are so free speaking when they're all drunked up. No sooner did I walk into the place when Christy – and I realize these are just names to you, but bear with me – Christy said, "Joe, you are such a good writer! I read your last article and I just loved it!" That was raw sweet. I think I blushed (but again it ma y have been

COMMUNITY INTEREST

Why in the world am I telling this story, you ask? Here it comes...

It is so strange the way you can have very similar conversations – ones that go over the same points and cover the same details – with different people in such a short amount of time. Just a week ago I was talking with a couple people about the differences between Canada and America. I said there were pros and cons to both. That Americans can freely slander each other or entire groups of people, whereas Canadians can be criminally charged for the same thing Canadians, to contrast, are overwhelmingly accepting of differences, whereas Americans bicker over race and its residual entanglements, like language and religion.

The bulk of the conversation, though, related to subcultures and the unease many of us feel being members of a group that so often splinters even more, because even in small groups we can't possibly all think alike. But we feel as though we should always agree and are disappointed – many times subconsciously – when we disagree.

The same conversation came up again last night. Jenn said, "How is it possible for gay people to be racist? (We were talking about an interracial couple we know and their experiences.) Shouldn't we already know how unjust that kind of discrimination can be?"

It's only because I pretend to know the answers to all of life's issues that I responded so confidently. "Every subculture can unwittingly cannibalize itself. It's easier for a Native person, for example, to pick at another Native person and walk away feeling as though he's won something. Maybe it's because we know where each other are coming from. We know what ties us together, so it's easier to break each other down than continue to fight, with some stranger, a battle that's larger than any one of us."

We, as Native people, share much the same experience as almost every other subculture. There is infighting, philosophical differences, alliances, and hatred everywhere we go. I'd like to think that just knowing it, just acknowledging it should make it easier to overcome but it's hard to believe. We are all members of small groups who share common goals but, in the face of a world that has changed for the betterment of the individual – and that is a benefit for us, as well, otherwise, we'd still be overwhelmingly judged and abused, based only on our race – we have to somehow overcome our personal idiosyncrasies, those oddities about us that make compromise and communal growth so elusive.

We are one of very few groups who can lament a time that is passed, but when I think about issues like this one I wonder if life back then really was as perfect as we like to tell each other it was. It is only us, along with a humiliated greater society, who can share our history with ourselves and others so, while it doesn't behoove us to present the negative, when we tell stories of how wonderful our world was two hundred years ago – how we all agreed and understood each other and never dissented – we set an impossible standard for us to meet today. We laugh at and derogate Native people who marry white, or black or yellow and consider them less Native than us but that may be only because nobody can meet our own standard, those of us who have the preferred percentage of government blessed blood quantum. It's another battle, but this one is larger than all of us.

Historical Joseph Brant – sorry, that's the best way I can reference him and not me – couldn't have been the only self-centered person in our long history. As human beings, we inherently disagree with each other, we inherently think independently. What did we really do back then when we disagreed? Not just when it was two or three of us and not when we were uniformly divided in half. What did we do when intelligent, legitimate thoughts and ideas could not conform or compromise?

The world's first democracy likely had a plan for this, and the breakdown of that system may have been the reason our ancestors never shared that plan with us. Ironically, the breakdown of that plan is most likely where we could learn the most from history, not by only recounting the blissful way it was before then.

Levi Green Family Reunion

We would like to extend our appreciation for the time and energy that went into the first Levi Green Family Reunion. I was there and enjoyed the picnic so much and was very happy to be able to be there as I am now in my 87th year. It was such a great experience to see my family and to spend time with them. It was a great day and I am very proud of my heritage and cannot thank you enough for this special time that I had with my family. It was well organized and the food was great. A day my father would have been proud of.

Thank you very much
Sincerely Rose Rendell and Family

The children have been having a great time, for being their first year in a soccer league they have done great. The only issue is showing up for the game. Even

studio tour

"One of the most diverse studio tours in Ontario..."
Ontario Crafts Council

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MAJOR ART TOUR IN 'THE COUNTY' THIS FALL

August 2003, PICTON, ONTARIO: -- For the tenth year in a row, the many renowned artists and craftspeople in 'The County' celebrate their talents during the annual Prince Edward County Studio Tour. For the first time ever, the Tour will be held over 3 days - October 3, 4, 5; this free self-guided tour attracts thousands of visitors to the County on the weekend before Thanksgiving.

Realistic carved birds and whimsical fish, dazzling pots and baskets, colourful tapestry and weaving, watercolors and oils and acrylics, hand-painted silks, blown and stained glass, sculpture, quilts, pewterware, one-of-a-kind jewellery - and that's only the beginning!

"The high standard and quantity of talent in Prince Edward County continues to grow," says Studio Tour co-chair Peta Hall. "This area is a welcoming environment for artists and craftspeople in a wide spectrum of media. Even if you've taken the Tour before, you'll find many new studios to visit - plus all the demonstrations and hands-on involvement make it a fun, lively and educational experience."

Despite its growing popularity, the Studio Tour event stays true to its roots, limited to only 14 locations, plus four additional guest artists. Some studios take part every year, with new artists, craftspeople and guest artists participating annually.

The full-colour Studio Tour brochure clearly marks the location of each studio, describes participants and shows samples of their work, and provides a year-round guide for studios, galleries and other County information. "With the help of the map you can plan your routes," continues Hall. "And be sure to take time out to enjoy both the cuisine and views of The County en route".

A 'virtual Studio Tour' is also available at www.pec.on.ca/artists for a preview of artists and craftspeople, and their creations.

what: The Studio Tour - a delight for the senses
Where: Prince Edward County - a respite for the soul
when: October 3, 4, 5, 2003, 10 am to 5 pm - enough time to relax

The Studio Tour is made possible by the generous support of the following:
