COMMUNITY CAPITAL NEEDS STUDY

A Community Capital Needs Study has been initiated by the Chief and Council for the Tyendinaga Mohawk Territory. The main purpose of the study is to prepare a plan for the growth of the community as a whole. The study will focus on many different aspects of the community. However, one of the primary goals of the study will be to recommend a growth plan for the housing, agricultural areas, commercial/industrial areas, and recreational areas required for the next twenty years. The study will also examine the existing educational and institutional facilities and determine additional needs over the next twenty years. The study will also review infrastructure servicing (i.e. water supply, sewage disposal and landfill replacement) required to meet the needs determined from examination of the above stated areas.

Mr. Dan Brant has been retained to work as a project manager on this project and an Engineering firm, R.J.Burnside & Associates Ltd from Orangeville, have also been retained to provide specialized technical services. As many of you know, Dan is a graduate Architect and Civil Engineer. He will be working from the administration office on a part time basis to manage the project. R.J.Burnside have been involved in many similar projects including the First Nation communities of Six Nations, Peawanuck, Weeagamow, Cape Croker, and Rama.

For this study to be the most effective, it needs public input. The growth plan will reflect the communities needs and desires for the next twenty years. These needs refer to the technical needs such as water, sewer, roads, bridges, institutions etc.

There are a number of ways you will be able to input into this study. A comprehensive questionnaire for community residents is being initiated. Your active participation in this questionnaire will help with base information required for the study. We also propose to hold open community meetings to present findings and alternatives. It is envisaged this will be a drop in format and that the viewer will be able to look at the exhibits and make comments either in person or in writing.

Finally, news briefs such as this one will be keep you informed of the studies progress. The expected completion date of the study is April 1992.

Your interest and participation is the key to the success of this project. Remember, the future is not a place where we are going, it is a place we are creating.

SURVEY

INTRODUCTIONS

A few issues ago, we announced that a team of five residents will be conducting a survey on the Tyendinaga Territory. This team has completed training which consisted of Marketing, Oral Communications, Interviewing Techniques, Career Development, Professional Image and Survey Analysis. This team has been hired by Skills Quinte and the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte. Below are a few words from the Skills Quinte Project Team Manager.

Hello! Let me introduce myself. My name is Alanna Maracle. I have been associated with the Tyendinaga Reserve all of my life. I have two children, Joshua and Jessy. I am looking forward to meeting with you, to discuss your opinions and views on the Social Issues of the Tyendinaga Reserve. The results of this survey may help Administration better meet the peoples needs. I will be calling on you over the next three months, see you then!

Hi! My name is Evelyn Maracle (Pinch's Wife). Have you ever had any concerns pro or con on any issues in our territory? Now is the time for your voice to be heard. I shall be calling you in the near future to set up an appointment for your valuable opinion to be voiced. Looking forward to seeing you soon!

Hello! My name is Greg Loft, I'm 37 years old, father of 2. I have a daughter April and a son Isaiah. My wife's name is Darlene. I have lived in the Territory all of my life except for about 1.5 years. I am one of five people trained to do the territory survey. I am looking forward to doing this survey with you because I feel it is very important in getting your input and opinions. This is your chance to be heard and I'm looking forward to being your messenger.

Hello! My name is Wendy Maracle. I will be part of a survey crew which will be conducting a survey throughout the territory over the next 3 months on behalf of the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte. Looking forward to seeing you soon and getting your opinions on the critical issues in our community.

My name is Scott Maracle and I would like to introduce myself to you. My current position as part of the Tyendinaga Survey team is allowing me to become involved with my home community and providing me with a chance to meeting new people within the area. I can share with you my confidence in each of the interviewer's skills, enthusiasm and sense of professionalism and my hope that all citizens in this Territory will help us by sharing your opinions when an interviewer comes to visit you in your home. Interviewers will be arranged by appointment with you and each interviewer will be prepared to introduce themselves, and to produce their oath of confidentiality, which ensures that the information that you give will NOT in any way identify you personally. PASTOR'S PULPIT

I JUST HATE IT!!!!

SCHOOL HAS STARTED ONCE AGAIN. Kid's are heading out the door, without their lunches, without their running shoes, or something else mom & dad has told them time & time again not to forget.

I spoke to one of the children from Quinte Mohawk School last week after just 2 days at school. I asked, "HOW DO YOU LIKE BEING AT SCHOOL NOW?" She replied....."I HATE IT, I JUST HATE IT!" I thought to myself, now this young girl is going through some rough times. But so as not to put myself too deep into the dilemma I came back with my next question, "BUT WHY DO YOU HATE SCHOOL?" I wasn't expecting her next remark, but really I should have known it was coming. She said, "I CAN'T STAND IT. I HAVE TO SIT BETWEEN 2 BOYS!"

Oh if that were our only problems in life, what little difficulty we would ever have. This young girl now hates school, hates where she sits & hates the boys she has to sit between. I said to her that the word HATE is quite a strong word, and she quickly came back with the word, "THEN I DISLIKE IT!"

What is true of this young girl is so true in the WORLD WE LIVE. That word HATE rolls off our tongue so easily at times without the hatred that comes with the word. BUT terrible it would be to actually hate as much as that word seems to address in our lives.

WE HATE GOING TO PLACES. HATE DOING SOMETHING. HATE ANOTHER PERSON. Yes, HATE seems to be a great part of our vocabulary. But what about a situation where someone actually does some wrong toward us....DO WE REALLY HATE THEM FOR WHAT THEY DID? HOW THEY TREATED US? WHAT THEY MAY HAVE SAID TO US?

Jesus said if someone slaps your cheek, then allow them to slap your other cheek. If someone forces you to go ONE MILE, then go TWO miles with them. He also said that if anyone asks something of you, don't turn away from them, but give to them if possible.

JESUS SAID SOME PROFOUND WORDS IN MATTHEW chapter 5, verse 43:
"YOU HAVE HEARD IT SAID, LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR AND HATE YOUR ENEMY. BUT I SAY LOVE YOUR ENEMIES, AND PRAY FOR THOSE WHO WRONGFULLY USE YOU."

JUST BECAUSE WE FIND OURSELVES SITTING BETWEEN 2 BOYS, should not give us opportunity to hate.

LET US TRULY CATCH THAT WORD HATE ON OUR TONGUE, BUT LET US ALSO REMEMBER TO LOVE THOSE AROUND US, EVEN WHEN IT'S HARD TO DO SO!!!

From Jolly Jumpers to Sphagnum Moss: Native People's Legacy to the World

by Margaret Lyon

Olivia Poole, a Chippewa woman living in North Vancouver, has inspired many bouncing babies. For on January 13, 1959, she patented the Jolly Jumper -- the invention that enables one in five Canadian babies to bounce happily in a suspended harness.

Mrs. Poole grew up on the White Earth Indian Reserve, Minnesota, and while raising her own children, she drew on her childhood memories to help her do the job. She recalled how contented babies had been strapped to cradle boards which hung by leather thongs from limber spruce boughs. With their feet only just touching the ground, the babies were able to develop their muscles, while having a delightful time.

Like many inventors, Mrs. Poole improvised to get what she wanted. A broom handle, pillow ticking and a coiled spring served her purposes, and from these household objects she fashioned the first Jolly Jumper. She later patented it from her home in North Vancouver, and with her husband's help, began manufacturing it.

Mrs. Poole's invention is just one of many contributions that native people have made to the world. In his book Indian Giver (published in 1989), Warren Lowes records the rich legacy of North American native peoples.

Some of the things native people have contributed to the rest of the world are well known, like the canoe, toboggan and snow shoes.

Less familiar examples include sphagnum moss, which the northern Woodland Indians had used to make the first disposable diapers and as a general packing. Largely ignored by European newcomers to North America, sphagnum moss was not taken seriously as an absorbent until World War I. The Smithsonian Annual Report of 1918 records that a factory in Montreal, which employed many native women, began to make surgical dressings out of sphagnum moss for the front lines. Tests showed that while cotton absorbed six times its weight in water, sphagnum dressings absorbed 20 times their weight, three times faster than cotton.

The world population has also gained much from native people's knowledge of agriculture. Maize or Indian corn has become, in the words of Dr. Michael D. Coe, "the most productive food plant on earth." The Iroquois, who were particularly expert agriculturalists, developed about 17 varieties of corn, including a popping corn.

Thousands of years before the arrival of Cortez, Indian agrobiologists had domesticated the production of such plants as squash, pumpkin, tobacco, cocoa and avocado. And, of course, the edible tuber known as the papas was grown by the Incas for thousands of years. Eventually, this nutritious vegetable, misnamed the potato by the Conquistadors, found its way to 16th-century European dinner tables.

Warren Lowes reminds us that when we sit down to a Thanksgiving dinner of roast turkey, potatoes, cranberry sauce, green beans, corn-on-the-cob, pumpkin pie and nuts and fruits, we are eating an almost 100 per-cent Indian meal.

Since 1492, the new World has been drawing on native knowledge for food, medicines such as quinine, and for sports, clothing, nature lore, folk democracy and much more. ▲

Tips on Being Drug-Free

Survival Tactics for A Drug Free Youth

1. Make a personal commitment to live drug-free. This can be a silent pledge to yourself or a formal pledge between you and a group of your peers.

2. Find friends who want to live drug-free. Establish friendships with those people. Join a prevention youth group. Seek support for your choice and help others.

3. Saying NO to drugs means saying yes to drug-free alternatives. Look for alternatives: something positive and drug-free, especially during weekends and holidays.

4. Find a good role model who doesn't use drugs. It can be a family member, a popular celebrity or someone in your community such as your favourite teacher or a sports coach. Role models must believe in a no-use rule about alcohol and other drugs for minors and also model appropriate behaviour themselves.

5. Develop a strong relationship with your parents. Let them know what concerns you have. Talk about the drug issue. They want to be part of your lives, so why not let them in?

6. Learn up-to-date and accurate adverse health effects of alcohol and drugs (non-medical purposes) on the body. Being well informed will make it easier to say no to drugs.

7. Practice techniques on resisting peer pressure. Role play these with a younger brother or sister, a friend or an adult. This will help you to react negatively without hesitation in a real life situation.

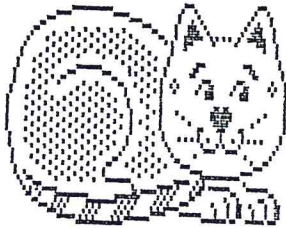

8. Look at the long term consequences of your actions: take responsibility. Visualize the consequences of your choices. Ask yourself these two questions which will help you to say no: "Would my saying yes to my friend's request break a law?"

and "Would I do this in front of my parents, teachers or other responsible adults in my life?"

9. Be an individual. This means not going along with the crowd when they do something you don't agree with. Be a thermostat, not a thermometer: grab control of your environment before it controls it.

10. Be proud of your drug-free choice and realize that you are great just the way you are.

Donna Logan Van Vliet is a Registered Nurse in independent practice in the Quinte area with expertise in stress reduction, relaxation and pain management. As well as teaching evening courses at Loyalist College, she works with groups and sees individuals through private appointments.

Prudence Ingerman Craig is a Registered Nurse with the Victorian Order of Nurses. Her experience and interest in palliative care have resulted in writing "Coming Home to Die", a practical guide for care of the dying person at home. She is available for grief counselling individually or in groups.

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION

Stress is a normal part of life. We need to learn how to recognize and handle our reactions to the strain of everyday living in a way that supports our well-being. Part of the workshop will focus on gaining insight to use your energy more effectively. Participants will be offered a variety of Mind-Body skills which can reduce internal stress and reclaim aliveness and personal power.

We live in a society which ignores and denies death. Fragmentation of the family unit and easy access to health care have weakened people's abilities to face and accept death as a part of life. In this part of the workshop, theoretical aspects of facing death will include: needs of the dying, the art of companionship, a good death and grief recovery.

To deepen the learning experience, participation will be encouraged through pictures, worksheets and small group interactions.

This day would benefit all ages, from seniors to older mature children, teachers, nurses, doctors, clergy, social workers, professionals and lay people and anyone interested in self-growth.
