The Kenhte:ke Seed Sanctuary is very busy at this time of year, starting seeds indoors of certain varieties, packaging seeds for sharing in the community and ensuring funding is in place for workers, tools and other necessities!

Nyawen:kowa to all who have contributed in many ways to getting ready for this growing season!

We are hoping to host a small number of people at our site for the Total Solar Eclipse on the afternoon of April 8. This is a very important celestial event to view out on the land.

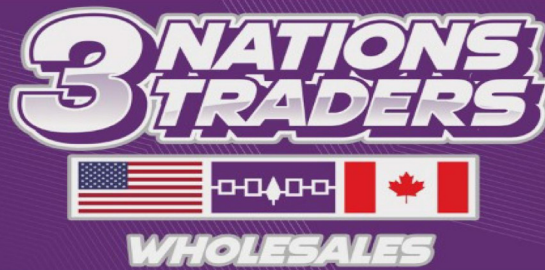

Sunday, April 14 10 am-noon will be our first volunteer workbee of the season. We hope to have volunteer workbees on the second Sunday of every month through the growing season. Please dress appropriately for the weather including closed-toe shoes or boots and bring water to drink. Youth in the community are particularly encouraged to join us, and we can sign for any volunteer work hours for high school students. Come see what we're doing out in the field!

Also in April we will celebrate the anniversary of our modern Wampum belt commitments on Earth Day.

When we do our first planting we will open the gardens in ceremony -stay tuned for that, as weather permits!

Introducing The Enyonkwa'nikonhriyohake' Program's Substance Use Series.

Part 3, What is Stigma?

Once you've read through Part 3, What is Stigma?, follow the QR Code to complete the short quiz!! Complete the quiz to enter in a draw to win fabulous prizes!

"It's O.K. to not be O.K., and it's O.K. to talk about it".

- NAOMI OSAKA

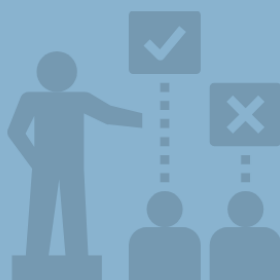

Stigma

PART 3 IN THE ENYONKWA'NIKONHRIYOHAKE' SUBSTANCE USE SERIES,

Stigma refers to negative attitudes (prejudice) and negative behaviour (discrimination) toward people with substance use and/or mental health concerns.

Some examples of prejudice are having fixed ideas and judgments. Some examples are thinking that people with substance use and mental health concerns are not normal or not like other people, that they caused their own problems; or that they can simply get over their problems if they want to.

Some examples of discrimination are fearing and avoiding what we don't understand—such as excluding people with substance use and mental health concerns from regular parts of life (for example, from having a job or a safe place to live, or participating in community events)

Stigma, prejudice and discrimination exclude people with mental illness and addiction from activities that are open to other people. This limits their ability to...

...get and keep a job or get and keep a safe place to live.

...access health care (including treatment for substance use and mental health problems) and other support.

...find and make friends or have other long-term relationships.

...be accepted by their family, friends and community and take part in social activities.

Stigma, prejudice and discrimination mean that people with mental health and substance use problems choose to keep their problems secret. Because of this they...

...avoid asking for the help they need

...have mental health or substance use problems that are less likely to decrease or go away

How can we help reduce Stigma in Tyendinaga?

1- Support our people

Treat people who have substance use and mental health problems with dignity and respect. Think about how you'd like others to act toward you if you were in the same situation.

If you have family members, Clan ties, friends or co-workers with substance use or mental health concerns, support their choices and encourage their efforts to get well.

4- Be aware of our attitudes and behaviour

We've all grown up with judgements and stereotypes, but we can change the way we think—and see people as unique human beings, not as labels or stereotypes.

2- Educate each other

Find opportunities to pass on facts and positive attitudes about people with substance use and mental health concerns, letting people know that misinformation hurts people with substance use and mental health concerns, and keep alive the false ideas.

Let's not be bystanders!

6- Learn the facts and not the myths

Stigma busting can save lives. Keep reading the Enyonkwa'nikonhriyohake' Substance Use Series, take our quiz each month, and sign up for our newsletter.

3- Watch our words

The way we speak can affect the way other people think and speak.

Use accurate and sensitive words when talking about people with mental health and substance use problems. For example, speak about "a person with schizophrenia" rather than "they're schizophrenic."

5- Include everyone

Denying people access to things such as jobs, housing and health care, which the rest of us take for granted, violates human rights. People with mental health and substance use concerns have a right to take an equal part in the business of our nation. Let's make sure that happens.

MOST OF ALL...

...encourage each other to take part in cultural and language revitalisation opportunities!

Embedded in the Kanien'kehá:ka language are the tools we need to interpret the world around us, to inform how we need to be in relationship to one another.. Our Good Minds, our Great Law of Peace, and our Words Before All Else, are all everyday tools to help us help each other!
